Progress North of the Somme and in Southern Woevre District.

Censorship Now More Severe Than at Any Time Since the War Began.

Slight advances by both wings of the allied armies are indicated in an official statement issued by the French war office at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon. At the same time the general situation is described as unchanged. "We have nevertheless," says the statement "made progress on our eft to the north of the Somme and on our right in the southern Woevre district."

The brief announcement from Paris affords the only light from official sources thrown on the great struggle in northern France today. London and Berlin were still silent in the late afternoon and such unofficial reports as reached this country by way of the capitals of the belligerents contained little to indicate the course of events on the different battlefields. Not since the war began has the censorship been so severe.

The latest Berlin announcement, made last night, said the allies had been repulsed at Albert, 18 miles northeast of Amiens, and the German attack in Argonne was progressing steadily though slowly.

The most recent word from the Belgian war office, also given out last night, stated that the Belgians were successfully repulsing the attack of the Germans on Antwerp.

An official statement issued at Tokio today says Japanese siege guns sunk a German torpedo boat destroyer, and a Japanese mine sweeper was sunk off the harbor and a Japanese supply ship damaged off the harbor of Kiao Chau.

Nothing is made known of the progress of the fighting in the eastern theatre of the war today. A news despatch from Petrograd under yesterday's date says a German squadron bombarded Windau, a Russian seaport in the Baltic, September 24. The forts replied to the fire of the ships, which after destroying the lighthouse withdrew.

General Von Auffenburg, commander of the First Austrian army, is reported ill with cholera at Vienna.

News despatches from Switzerland state that Austria is confronted with a serious shortage of food supplies.

A correspondent at Paris, referring to the events of yesterday, says the Germans continue a fierce attack on the allies in the angle formed by the rivers Oise and Aisne, in the direction of Tracy-le-Mont. Yesterday's statement by the French war office said the Germans were repulsed at Tracy-le-Mont.

A French national commission is appealing for winter clothing for the troops, declaring that a long campaign in cold weather is a possibility.

Austria has replied to Italy, expressing regret that mines in the Adriatic have destroyed Italian fishing boats and promising compensation and greater care in placing mines. It is reported that Italy demands an indemnity of $1,000,000.

OPTIMISM OF ALLIES SEEMINGLY JUSTIFIED.

Brilliantly Skilful Tactics of Von Kluck Thus Far Fail.

Events Shaping for Repitition of Battle of the Marne.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The screen of secrecy erected by the censorship almost entirely across northern France, behind which military craftsmen for the past three weeks have been, figuratively speaking, fashioning the rough outlines of a new map of the eastern hemisphere, stands today almost unimpaired. It has, judging from indications in London, been pierced here and there with holes which permit some inkling of the events happening on the stage behind it.

From what can be deduced from these fragmentary glimpses there would appear to be justification, in the opinion of British observers, for the confident, even seemingly inspired optimism on the part of the allies. This describes events as shaping for a repetition of history as it was written on the river Marne, when the allied forces sent the Germans back on their tracks.

All the brilliantly skilful tactics employed by General Von Kluck, commander of the German right wing, to counter or break through the band of bayonets reaching northward beyond his extreme right, has thus far failed. These efforts, however, have by no means ceased, and the German general staff, it is felt in London, probably will risk something elsewhere in order to re-inforce this wing bfore the end of the chapter is written. Heretofore re-inforcements have been met by re-inforcements in this critical quarter of the battlefield.

The Germans nearly broke through the allied ring near Albert, to the northeast of Amiens, but after two days of fierce strugle for the mastery failed.

These incessant assaults on the part of the Germans have, according to the allied commanders, whose reports are augmented by statements from independent sources, cost the assailants such appalling losses in ment that, even allowing for re-inforcements, their ranks must have been materially weakened.

The announcement from France of the re-creation of the post of marshal of France, coming simultaneously with the report of General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French forces, of the satisfactory condition

FRENCH HOLDING SOLIDLY.

Germans Continue Attack in Angle Formed by the Oisne and Aisne.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Germans continue the fierce attack in the angle formed by the rivers Oise and Aisne in the direction of Tracy-le-Mont, just northeast of the forest of the Argue, which has already been the scene of a success on the part of the allies. Here the French lines have thus far held solidly, the attempts made to break them having been futile. The contest has been singularly desperate, but the allies by daring counter-manoeuvres have checked the attempts of their adversaries.

The latest news from the front, while not giving sufficient details to satisfy the Parisian eagerness for war news, is nevertheless regarded by them as favorable and they continue to wait with patience for some decisive result of the great battle.

Lieutenant Colonel Rousset, military critic, in the Petit Parisien quotes the sentence from the official communication reading "On our left wing to the north of the Somme the action continues to develop more and more toward the north," and says: "Curiously, I remember perfectly having seen at the imperial manoeuvres of 1909 something analagous to the actual situation of the German forces today. A certain corps of the attacking army, disappointed in a manoeuvre which it had contemplated against the left flank of the enemy, found itself at the end of the day compressed between two lines of fire which had the lines of the letter V reversed. It is useless to say that the emperor was not all satisfied and I doubt if he will be more so today in seeing this singular operation happen again at his great loss.

"Having been unable to oppose our extension toward the north, the Germans struggled to break at its summit the angular line we occupy. Against Tracey-le-Mont they delivered a furious attack which appears to have cost them dear Perhaps it is not yet the last one. I imagine that such assaults would become more and more rare, because they will wear out when unsuccessful. The tactics of the Germans in seeking to strike, at the same time, upon two points over 100 kilometers (about 62 miles) away, indicates a certain confusion, and it will be quite extraordinary if this can continue long."

The national committee formed to take charge of the work of sending winter clothing to the soldiers urges that prompt measures be taken in the way of furnishing these supplies, pointing out the possibility of a long campaign in severe winter weather.

The name of Lieutenant Colonel T. G. J. R. Beuchon, a hero of the Boxer campaign, where he used for the first time the new French cannon known as "75," appears among the list of "killed on the field of honor." Well known public men, including actors and several abbes, also are listed.

The government has virtually re-established the dignity of marshal of France, the highest military title, the resurrection of which has long been a question. A decree fixing the salary

GERMAN WARSHIPS OPEN A SEVERE ENGAGEMENT.

Japanese Positions Near Tsing Tau Cannonaded.

Hostile Torpedo Boat Destroyed Sunk in the Harbor.

TOKIO, Oct. 1.—A severe engagement has been opened by the German warships, which cannonaded the Japanese positions near Tsing Tau, seat of the government of Kiao Chau, the German leased territory in China. Two officers were killed. German aeroplanes assisted the warships. The Japanese war office announces that the artillery duel at Tsing Tau continues.

A German torpedo boat destroyer sank in the harbor yesterday (Wednesday). Apparently this ship was not in action. From other sources it is stated that the German destroyer was sunk by Japanese siege guns.

It was officially announced late this afternoon that a Japanese mine sweeper off Kiao Chau was blown up and sunk. Three men were killed and 13 others wounded.

Another Japanese vessel, supply ship Wakamiya Maru, was damaged. One man on board was killed and six were injured.

The name of the mine sweeper which went down was the Nagato Maru.

THEIR LOSSES SMALL.

German Retirement Around Tsing Tau Due to Japanese Numbers.

PEKIN, Oct. 1.—A German report from Tsing Tau, the fortified position of the Kiao Chau territory, sent by carrier pigeon to Tsi-Nan, Shantung province, and thence to Pekin by telegraph, indicates that the German retirement from the second line of defenses around Tsing Tau, which took place last Monday, was due to the overwhelming numerical strength of the Japanese.

Continuing, the report says that the Japanese losses were 1,700 killed and 500 wounded, as a result of the fire from German warships, coupled with the fire of machine guns on land. The German losses are described as small.

At the German legation in Pekin it was said today that Germans caused the destruction early this week of the railroad bridge at Ta Yu So, six miles west of Wei Hsien, and that they will cause other bridges to be dynamited if the Japanese continue their westward movement. They also will dynamite all the government buildings at Tsing Tau, when a further defense of that place becomes impossible. The Japanese legation here today expressed the belief that the troops now attacking Tsing Tau will await the arrival of siege guns.

STATE DEPARTMENT NOTIFIED.

Great Britain Not to Interfere with Shipments of Foodstuffs to Holland.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The British government today, through Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, notified the State Department that Great Britain would not interfere with shipments of foodstuffs from the United States to Holland.

Great Britain also has agreed to release any seized cargoes as soon as it is established that their destination is Holland. It is understood that Great Britain has impressed upon Holland that, according to her duties as a neutral state; she must not permit foodstuffs or other cargoes destined to the German army to pass her borders. The practical effect of the arrangement is expected to be that foodstuffs may possibly pass into Germany if it is clearly established that their use is to be confined to civilians, and in notifying the United States of its action the British government stipulated no restrictions on destinations.

The understanding, however, applies only to th estatus of shipments in transit between the United States and Holland or any other neutral country. It was said at the State Department that there had been no friction whatever between the United States and Great Britain or any other country in regard to the disposition of contraband or conditional contraband up to this point.

Announcement of the exceptions of American foodstuffs from seizure or diversion is only one step toward the solution of the whole difficult question under the new regulations in the declaration of London.

The State Department today gave out the following statement: "It is understood that the British government intends to revise their proclamation with regard to contraband, and meanwhile, in neutral ships goods such as foodstuffs consigned to Holland, in respect of which the Netherlands government have placed an embargo on exportations, will not be treated as contraband."

President Wilson told callers that the British government has been most friendly in its attitude on shipments of possible ureutral character in American vessels, and had shown a willingness to discuss the question. He declared that he had no doubt that a satisfactory arrangement would be reached.

Death in Battles.

Each soldier in the Union Army who went into the battle of First Bull Run had the same chance of surviving that a man now 26 years of age has of living to be 31. At Antietam he would have the equivalent risk of a 40 year old man living to 44, but at Gettysburg he had the same chance as a 49 year old man only living to be 52. In the light of facts like these men (or women) at peace can no more afford to be without life insurance than a man who is ACTUALLY GOING INTO BATTLE. Why don't you talk over a New York Life policy with Commerford. He is over 223 Thames and you can get him by phones 2029 or 1861 any time.

FRENCH EXACT REVENGE FOR OLD SEDAN DEFEAT.

On the Same Field Germans Suffer One of Worst Reverses.

Invaders Led into Trap Which Cost Them Thousands of Men.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—During the strategical retreat of the allies southward from the Belgian frontier the French troops exacted from the Germans bloody revenge for the French defeat at Sedan 44 years before. On this same battlefield, according to the Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail, the Germans suffered one of the worst defeats of their present invasion. They were led into a trap which cost them thousands of men, he says. The French could have held their position indefinitely, but strategy required them to continue falling back with the remainder of the allies along the line. Here is the story of the second battle of Sedan, as told by the correspondent:

"The French general ordered his troops to fall back across the river and take up positions on the opposite heieghts. The bridges were mined, but were left standing in order to deceive the Germans into thinking that the French were retreating hastily. The ruse succeeded. The Germons advanced across the bridges in close formation. When several German regiments had crossed, the French blew up the bridges and the French artillery started firing at a hundred German columns, which retreated hastily to the river, only to find the bridges gone.

"The French regiments then advanced with quick firers and the merciless slaying continued until dusk. Many Germans threw down their arms and attempted to swim the river and large numbers were drowned. When nightfall came the French brought up searchlights and continued the work of carnage.

"The artillery threw shells at the rate of a dozen rounds a minute into the German ranks and varied its tactics by throwing incendiary shells into the forest, where part of the German force had taken refuge. The burning woods lit up the whole front of 15 miles. In the morning an armistice of two hours was granted to allow the Germans to bury their dead. The French had suffered the loss of only a handful."

FOOD SCARCE IN AUSTRIA.

Roumania's Embargo on the Export Causes Consternation.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The food question is a grave one in Austria, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Chiasso, Switzerland. The Austrian emperor has issued an edict empowering the government to take all mesures necessary to alleviate the situation. The price of corn is double that of normal times and is increasing at the rate of 3 per cent daily. German and Austrian dealers are travelling in neutral countries, the despatch says, trying to buy corn, and announcing at the same time that it is intended for other countries. Italy has demanded that the fullest guarantees be given that corn purchased there is not to go to Austria.

Roumania's embargo on the export of corn has caused consternation in Austria, according to the despatch, and it is said that Austria is now making desperate efforts to get wheat from the United States, but the blockade of the Adriatic makes relief from this quarter doubtful. The shortage of food is also felt in the German army, the despatch declares.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK.

Russian Forces Capture Positions at Augustowo and Kopetz.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Colonel Golejewski, military attache of the Russian embassy, today issued the following official report from Petrograd: "September 28, after stubborn fighting, our troops have captured the German positions at Awgustowo and Kopetz. September 29 we took the defiles between the lakes at Simmo, Sereje, and Lejpuny.

"The Germans have been driven back into the region between Suwalki, Sejny and Marianpol. Our advance continues. German siege artillery continues the bombardment of Ossowjetz, but without success. At Schutekin and at Andrejew only unimportant skirmishes are reported."

MANY AMERICANS ON BOARD.

Italian Steamer Tomaso di Savoia Arrives at New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Italian steamer Tomaso di Savoia, with 537 passengers, of whom 216 were Americans, reached New York today from Genoa after a voyage lasting two weeks. Among the passengers were Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., (formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland) and her three children.

The steamer also brought the body of Mrs. Richard Croker, who died in Austria. Howard Croker and his sister accompanied the body across the ocean.

ITALIAN AGENT ARRIVES.

Commissioned by His Government to Purchase Aeroplanes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—With a commission from the Italian government to purchase aeroplanes and air-craft motors of high power, Ernest Bossi, Italian agent for an American aeroplane manufacturer, was a passenger on steamer Tomaso di Savoia from Genoa, which reached New York today. "The Italian government now has 17 dirigibles, two of which are as big as Zeppelins, 240 biplanes and 70 hydro-aeroplanes," Mr. Bossi said.

SUSPENSION DECREE RESCINDED

Socialist Newspaper Must Avoid Reference to Class Struggles.

BERLIN, Oct. 1, via The Hague and London.—The decree ordering the suspension of the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts has been rescinded, conditionally, upon the avoidance by the paper of reference to class hatred and class struggles. These are described as wholly inapplicable to the present situation, in view of the unanimity of the German people in the present war.

The management of the Vorwaerts has given assurance of compliance.

OPTIMISM OF ALLIES SEEMINGLY JUSTIFIED.

along the entire battle line, has been hailed by the allies as peculiarly significant.

In the eastern field, the German navy is showing increased activity on the Baltic coast. It is in readiness to support German land forces if they succeed in forcing the passage of the river Nieman.

In the meanwhile news has come to London that within a week a new Russian army, a million strong, will join the present armies in Poland and Galicia, for "Russia's principal attack on Germany."

ARMISTICE IN MEXICO.

Elections to be Held October 5-10, According to Agreement.

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 1.—Luis Asirre Benavides, secretary to General Villa, under date of September 30, telegraphed the Associated Press that an armistice had been declared throughout Mexico, with Aguis Calientes as a neutral zone. He stated also that elections will be held, according to the first agreement, from October 5 to 10.

These points had been agreed on, he said, at a preliminary conference at Zacatecas, after which General Villa's party left for Aguis Calientes to confer with General Obregon and other Carranza leaders. Villa was met at Zacatecas by a commission headed by General Hay. Benavides said the first meeting had aroused great optimism for a happy outcome of the conferences.

FOLLOWING ORIGINAL PLAN.

Carranza's Resignation May Take Place After Bacatecas Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—General Carranza's resignation, generally expected as a step in healing the breach with General Villa and his followers, may not take place until after the conference of military chiefs, seeking to compose the differences, finishes its work at Zacatecas.

The Zacatecas conference was expected to assemble today. Information received here is that its sole purpose it to reply to the demands of Villa. Chief among these is Carranza's resignation, and while that may be pledged it was said that Carranza probably will follow his original plan of not actually giving up his place until the Mexico City convention chooses a provisional president.

Communications from Mexico, slow in transmission and hampered by a rigid censorship, shed no light on whether it will be delayed to await the outcome of the Zacatecas conference. The view that it will be delayed prevails in administration circles and among some close to Carranza.

The attitude of the administration continues one of impartial observation.

President Wilson said today that the outlook for a peaceful settlement in Mexico was very good. The President said Secretary Bryan has taken up appeals for the relief of nuns and priests in Mexico, but that at present there was little this government could do.

BISHOP CURRIER PROTESTS.

Complains Against Seizure of Church Property in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Bishop Currier of Matanzas, Cuba, made representations today to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan against seizure of Catholic Church property in Mexico by Constitutionalists and against alleged killing and robbing of priests and nuns. The President told him that every thing possible was being done to relieve the situation.

KING THE DIRECTOR.

Rockefeller Institute to Probe Country's Industrial Conditions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Rockefeller Institute announced today that it has decided to make a far-reaching investigation of the industrial conditions in this country, and has retained the services of W. L. Mackenzie King, former minister of labor in Canada, as director of the investigation.

The announcement was made in a statement issued here by Jerome D. Green, secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation. "In spirit and method the investigation of the problem of industrial relations will be like that carried on by the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research," the statement says, "and other inquiries instituted by the Rockefeller brothers.

"In facing the problem of industrial relations, the Rockefeller Foundation is deliberately attempting to grapple with what it believes to be the most important and at the same time the most urgent question of modern times, and it is precisely for this reason that the investigation has been instituted.

"In no sense will the investigation be local or restricted or carried on with particular reference to any existing situation, or for that matter with reference to conditions in any one country. The experience of the several countries of the world will be drawn upon.

"In going to another country and selecting as the person to have the direction of this most important work one whose public services have gained for him an outstanding position as a leading authority on industrial problems, the trustees have shown their desire to free the foundation from any suspicion of interest or prejudice in the investigation of the most controversial of all problems."

DEER UNUSUALLY PLENTIFUL.

BANGOR, Maine, Oct. 1.—The season of deer hunting in this state for residents and non-residents alike opened today with prospects unusually good. The season will continue until December 31. The open season on moose is confined to the month of November. Game authorities report both moose and deer plentiful and that moose are now coming down to lower levels.

WHOLE SKY LIGHTED BY BURSTING SHELLS.

French Town of Albert Scene of Murderous Artillery Battle.

As Point of the German Wedge, Completely Destroyed.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Telegraphing from Paris, under date of Wednesday, the correspondent of the Daily Mail describes the complete destruction by German heavy artillery of the open and unfortified town of Albert, 18 miles from Amiens, which has been the scene during the past few days of a prolonged and terribly murderous artillery battle. He says:

"The struggle by the Germans to prevent their right wing being turned compelled them continually to push their front further north and to the east, while the allies continually replied by extending their front to overlap the enemy, both sides bringing up large re-inforcements. This necessitated long marches of 20 to 25 miles a day and the Germans were repeatedly called upon to make a desperate effort in order to avoid being outflanked, whereby they suffered very heavy losses.

"On Saturday they began to realize that their efforts were in vain. They, therefore, changed their tactics and tried to drive a wedge into the allies' front. The point of that wedge was the town of Albert. The attempt almost succeeded. They brought up and massed their artillery, and the French infantry suffered considerably. They kept up a fire so rapid in character that at night the whole sky was lit up by bursting shells. Sunday they gained perceptibly and Monday they still pressed on, but by that time the French had brought up large numbers of their famous quick-firing batteries and their deadly fire checked the German advance.

"Yesterday the enemy kept up his efforts gamely, but, by late afternoon it had clearly failed of its aim. There were French batteries at various points around Albert, but none within a mile of the town. At 5:10 o'clock German shells from their heavy guns began to fall. Here is an account of the siege from an eye-witness who was on a hill overlooking Albert:

"'We were warned along the road to be careful, and saw a vast column of people coming away from the town, but nothing happened until 5:10, when we heard a deep boom, quite unlike the noise made by an ordinary field gun, and a shell, evidently of much greater force and size, fell in the town. We thought it must be an accident of misdirection and then to our indignation the shells began to fall rapidly. They came in bunches. There were several batteries at work and their aim was excellent. I only saw three shells burst outside the town. The place collapsed literally like a pack of cards that had been built up into houses, as every moment something fresh went. Now it was the town hall, now a group of cottages and then a high wall.

"'It reminded one of a scene in a Drury Lane melodrama. One could not believe without an effort that one was seeing a real town shelled. It was just as if some inventor had made a new kind of explosive and had invited his friends to see it demolish a model of a town. I stayed there an hour and was fascinated.'

"The road toward Amiens at that time was packed with refugees of all ages, and old men and women, too feeble to walk, were being wheeled in barrows.

"At 6:30 a number of fires, lighting up the whole countryside, were visible. Looking toward Albert they appeared to be hay ricks, which had been set alight by shells. The largest of these red glares, however, was Albert on fire. Against the flaming background the tall spire of a church stood out uninjured up to 9 o'clock, but it was impossible to enter the town, as the heat was too great and the streets too unsafe."

IDLE BECAUSE OF THE WAR.

Banks and Trust Companies to Aid in Finding Wall Street Clerks Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The banks and trust companies today were requested to assist in finding positions for Wall Street clerks who have been idle a whole or part of the time since the Stock Exchange closed soon after war was declared in Europe.

Yesterday Wall Street, which seldom feels the pinch of hard times experienced by employes of commercial and manufacturing concerns, saw the unusual spectacle of a hundred clerks, among them three women, standing in line waiting to apply for aid. These clerks, formerly employed in financial district brokerage houses, who sought relief or work to tide them over the present dull period caused by the war, came in response to notices that their former employers had organized a committee for their relief.

NO PROTEST YET ENTERED.

Shipment of Hydro-Aeroplane Raises Question of International Law.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Shipment of the hydro-aeroplane America to England from New York on the Mauretania has raised a new question of international law. It is said authorities from the navy department will be asked to seize as contraband. Should it be found as a result that the United States must be charged with responsibility for its departure from a neutral port. No protest has been made and the whole question has not yet come up officially.

RUSH ORDER FOR FLOUR.

One of Warring Nations Buys 110,000 Barrels of a St. Louis Company.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—A rush order for 110,000 barrels of flour was placed with local milling companies today, it was reported here, by representatives of one of the warring nations, the name of which was not disclosed. This is the largest single sale of flour ever made here. The flour will be made of Kansas wheat and will require 5,500,000 bushels. Shipments from Kansas mills to St. Louis will begin within a few days and the flour will be rushed to New York as fast as made. The price was not made public.

ON ANY FAIR TERMS.

Federal League Club Owner Ready for Peace With Organized Base Ball.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Club owners of the Federal League are ready to make peace with organized base ball on any "fair and honorable terms," according to a statement made here today by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal League. "We stand ready to meet organized base ball half-way on any peace proposition," Gilmore set forth in his statement, "but I don't want to place our organization in a false light. We are not standing on the doorstep, hat in hand. The base ball war could be ended promptly and honorably if President Johnson of the American League and his associates would deign to meet us as business men and discuss the subject as a business proposition."

President Gilmore asserted his belief that peace could come to base ball whether men identified with the National and American Leagues want it or no. There is no room for three major leagues, he asserted, and believed one must fall.

HOW THE WAR AFFECTS MUSIC.

Scheduled Performances Impossible Because Singers are Fighting in Europe.

Absence of Foreign Stars will Give Impetus to Movement for Grand Opera in English.

[Frederic J. Haskin, in Washington Star.]

The war in Europe has caused the abandonment of the regular grand opera season in at least four American cities. An important symphony tour planned months ago through the West has been given up because the musicians have been detained in Europe. Popular male stars are being forced into the armies of their native lands. A number of prominent woman singers have refused to make engagements because they are unwilling to sing when Europe is in the throes of warfare. Ivan Narodny claims that in the Russian army alone are enrolled 100,000 musicians, many of whom have distinguished reputations. Because of these conditions critics are predicting an unusual year of music in America.

The directors of the Chicago Grand Opera Company announce that there will be no performance this season, due to the difficulties in securing musicians. Heinrich Hensel, their leading German tenor, is in the German army. The directors have decided to return over $200,000 to subscribers. The failure of the opera company to supply performances involves a loss of more than $150,000. A slight offset to this loss may be made by arranging for short seasons at popular prices, the parts to be taken by singers now in this country and available for contract.

The abandonment of the season by the Chicago Grand Opera Company, debars Philadelphia and Baltimore also from grand opera, since the same performers make up the schedules in these cities. Subscriptions approximating $160,000 will be returned to opera subscribers in Philadelphia. Edward Stotesbury, the president of the Philadelphia Opera House, has announced the intended endeavor of the directors to secure some operas from visiting members of the Metropolitan Company of New York. The Boston Opera Company has issued a statement that since at least 14 of its artists are already in military service in Europe, it will be impossible to provide the performances scheduled. Most of these singers are in the army of the allies. Luain Muratore, the husband of Lina Cavalieri; Alban Grand, Edouard Tournan and Anthony Dubois are in the French army. Leo Devaux and Clement Deru are fighting with the Belgians.

The responsibility for grand opera in America this season now rests with the Metropolitan and the Century opera companies of New York. Many doubts had been expressed regarding the performances of the Metropolitan Opera Company, especially if Italy should declare war. These were set at rest by the formal announcement that the company expects to carry through the entire season with some alterations in the schedule first planned. Its season in New York will open November 16 with "Carmen." Geraldine Farrar will sing the title role for the first time, and Caruso will sing the part of Don Jose. It is understood that the Wagner cycle will be omitted because so many German singers are in military service.

The Century company will open earlier. The proceeds for the tickets sold for the first two performances will be applied to the work of the Red Cross Society. The first performance will be for the Red Cross work of the allies and the second for the work in the armies in Germany and Austria. Society women under the direction of Miss Mabel Boardman have arranged for these two monster benefit performances. Large blocks of tickets have been distributed and sold weeks in advance.

The Boston Symphony canceled its engagements for the fall tour because of the impossibility of assembling the orchestra. The tour was to have been made in October previous to the regular Boston season. All the important members of the orchestra have now been heard from, so it is believed that there will be no doubt regarding the regular concert schedules for the season of 1914-15.

The Philharmonic Society of New York has lost at least two members of the orchestra. Henri Leon Le Roy, the first clarinetist, had returned to New York, but was obliged to go back to France for service in the army, and Joseph Goisch, the leading cellist is reported to be in the fighting front. Several other members, including the conductor, are yet to be heard from, but arrangements will be made for their substitutes. Leopold Stowski, the leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra, announced recently that 18 of his musicians are being held in Europe, though he expects to secure substitutes for them. Their absence may prevent the presentation of Mahler's Eighth Symphony, an elaborate composition, which had been a cherished project for this season's performance.

While the performances of grand opera companies and symphony orchestras are being interfered with by the war, it is predicted that the number of concerts by individual performers will go far to make up for the lack. Mme. Sembrich, who had canceled all her American engagements for this winter, has re-considered her decision and will sail from Rotterdam early in October. Tina Lerner, the Russian pianist, will come to America at least a month earlier because of conditions in Europe. Miss Lerner had a concert tour planned late in the season, but decided to sail at the earliest opportunity. She has already had some difficulties in crossing the borders of her native land. Germaine Schnitzer, a distinguished German pianist, who has been spending the summer in the United States with the intention of returning to Europe, has canceled her European engagements. She will devote this season to concert work in this country. Those in touch with musical conditions intimate that many other distinguished artists will come to us; so instead of continuous schedules of long-arranged events the coming season will be rich in surprises of many kinds.

The abandonment of the regularly scheduled operas will open the way for the appearance of many unknown artists. Already in several cities the organization of temporary companies is being considered. Such companies will bring forward excellent local musicians who have been unable to secure hearings heretofore. It is predicted that the absence of foreign stars will also give great impetus to the movement for grand opera in English.

When Smith is moved to sudden heat
At some affront that touched his clan,

Brown, swollen big with pride of birth,
Can't borrow the Almighty's fan

And needs a thicker coat of tan,

WOMEN AS SEA CAPTAINS.

[The Strand.]

America is the only country where the full title of "captain" has been bestowed upon women. This was strikingly illustrated a few years ago by a decision of the London board of trade, which refused to grant a yachtmaster's certificate to Lady Ernestine Brudenell Bruce, a well-known yachtswoman of England, who had thoroughly prepared herself for the examination in seamanship and navigation. She appeared before the board of trade and asked to take the examination, pointing out that she merely desired authority to command her own yacht, and had no intention of serving on board other ships. The board of trade, nevertheless, refused to grant her request, on the ground that it could not permit a woman to be examined for a "master's" certificate, as the word "master" clearly implied that only men were eligible not taking into consideration the broader meaning of the word.

SHIP BILL BAD POLITICS.

[Boston Transcript.]

It is gratifying to note President Wilson's acquiescence in the postponement of the ship purchase bill, so called. Sensible Democratic leaders see that if the purpose of the bill was to acquire interned German liners our neutrality would vanish into thin air, and that apart from that issue an appropriation of thirty million or more at a time when a war tax of one hundred and five millions is about to be placed on the country is bad politics.

ROCKEFELLER "A FINE MAN."

"Pat" Murphy, a Yonkers laborer, has maintained right along that John D. Rockefeller was a fine, democratic man. Recently Mr. Rockefeller's car stopped in front of a store in that town, and while a footman went in to make some purchases, the "oil king" sat watching the crowds. Murphy seemed to be the only one who recognized him. He advanced and stuck out his hand.

"Put 'er there, John, old scout," he said.

Mr. Rockefeller "put 'er there" and the two shook hands heartily. Then they chatted until the footman came out of the store.

"Just as I thought—a fine man," was Murphy's comment.

IMPORTANT
Owing to the conditions occasioned by the European war the drug and chemical market of the United States is in a most unusual and chaotic condition.
The fact that about 75 per cent of the DRUGS and CHEMICALS used in this country are of foreign origin may not be generally known. Because of the depressed business conditions the past year there was a small supply of such goods in this country at the outbreak of the war. The suddenness of the war and the consequent cutting off of commercial relations with the countries involved has brought about a scarcity of supplies and a rapid advance of prices Stocks of foreign toilet and medicinal preparations have been advanced 25, 50 and 100 per cent in price.
The condition now confronting the trade is not so much one of prices but of SUPPLIES TO SELL AT ANY PRICE. For the moment many artcles are practically out of the market and, until foreign commerce is again restored to somewhere near normal conditions, fresh stocks can not be obtained.
It is important that you should realize these facts so that you may be prepared for the changes in prices that occur from day to day.

FRENCH EXACT REVENGE FOR OLD SEDAN DEFEAT.

On the Same Field Germans Suffer One of Worst Reverses.

Invaders Led Into Trap Which Cost Them Thousands of Men.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—During the strategical retreat of the allies southward from the Belgian frontier the French troops exacted from the Germans bloody revenge for the French defeat at Sedan 44 years before. On this same battlefield, according to the Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail, the Germans suffered one of the worst defeats of their present invasion. They were led into a trap which cost them thousands of men, he says. The French could have held their position indefinitely, but strategy required them to continue falling back with the remainder of the allies along the line. Here is the story of the second battle of Sedan, as told by the correspondent:

"The French general ordered his troops to fall back across the river and take up positions on the opposite heights. The bridges were mined, but were left standing in order to deceive the Germans into thinking that the French were retreating hastily. The ruse succeeded. The Germans advanced across the bridges in close formation. When several German regiments had crossed, the French blew up the bridges and the French artillery started firing at a hundred German columns, which retreated hastily to the river, only to find the bridges gone.

"The French regiments then advanced with quick firers and the merciless slaying continued until dusk. Many Germans threw down their arms and attempted to swim the river and large numbers were drowned. When nightfall came the French brought up searchlights and continued the work of carnage.

"The artillery threw shells at the rate of a dozen rounds a minute into the German ranks and varied its tactics by throwing incendiary shells into the forest, where part of the German force had taken refuge. The burning woods lit up the whole front of 15 miles. In the morning an armistice of two hours was granted to allow the Germans to bury their dead. The French had suffered the loss of only a handful."

FOOD SCARCE IN AUSTRIA.

Roumania's Embargo on the Export Causes Consternation.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The food question, is a grave one in Austria, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Chiasso, Switzerland. The Austrian emperor has issued an edict empowering the government to take all measures necessary to alleviate the situation. The price of corn is double that of normal times and is increasing at the rate of 3 per cent daily. German and Austrian dealers are travelling in neutral countries, the despatch says, trying to buy corn, and announcing at the same time that it is intended for other countries. Italy has demanded that the fullest guarantees be given that corn purchased there is not to go to Austria.

Roumania's embargo on the export of corn has caused consternation in Austria, according to the despatch, and it is said that Austria is now making desperate efforts to get wheat from the United States, but the blockade of the Adriatic makes relief from this quarter doubtful. The shortage of food is also felt in the German army, the despatch declares.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK.

Russian Forces Capture Positions at Augustowo and Kopetz.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Colonel Golejewski, military attache of the Russian embassy, today issued the following official report from Petrograd: "September 28, after stubborn fighting, our troops have captured the German positions at Awgustowo and Kopetz. September 29 we took the defiles between the lakes at Simno, Sereje, and Lejpuny.

"The Germans have been driven back into the region between Suwalki, Sejny and Marianpol. Our advance continues. German siege artillery continues the bombardment of Ossowjetz, but without success. At Schaulekin and at Andrejew only unimportant skirmishes are reported."

MANY AMERICANS ON BOARD.

Italian Steamer Tomaso di Savoia Arrives at New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Italian steamer Tomaso di Savoia, with 537 passengers, of whom 316 were Americans, reached New York today from Genoa after a voyage lasting two weeks. Among the passengers were Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., (formerly Mrs. Grover Cleveland) and her three children.

The steamer also brought the body of Mrs. Richard Croker, who died in Austria. Howard Croker and his sister accompanied the body across the ocean.

ITALIAN AGENT ARRIVES.

Commissioned by His Government to Purchase Aeroplanes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"With a commission from the Italian government to purchase aeroplanes and air-craft motors of high power, Ernest Bossi, Italian agent for an American aeroplane manufacturer, was a passenger on steamer Tomaso di Savoia from Genoa, which reached New York today. "The Italian government now has 17 dirigibles, two of which are 34 big as Zeppelins, 250 biplanes and 70 hydro-aeroplanes," Mr. Bossi said.

SUSPENSION DECREE RESCINDED

Socialist Newspaper Must Avoid Reference to Class Struggles.

BERLIN, Oct. 1, via the Hague and London—The decree ordering the suspension of the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts has been rescinded, conditionally, upon the avoidance by the paper of reference to class hatred and class struggles. These are described as wholly inapplicable to the present situation, in view of the unanimity of the German people in the present war.

The management of the Vorwaerts has given assurance of compliance.

OPTIMISM OF ALLIES SEEMINGLY JUSTIFIED.

In the eastern field, the German navy is showing increased activity on the Baltic coast. It is in readiness to support German land forces if they succeed in forcing the passage of the river Nieman.

In the meanwhile news has come to London that within a week a new Russian army, a million strong, will join the present armies in Poland and Galicia, for "Russia's principal attack on Germany."

ARMISTICE IN MEXICO.

Elections to be Held October 5-10, According to Agreement.

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 1.—Luis Aguirre Benavides, secretary to General Villa, under date of September 30, telegraphed the Associated Press that an armistice had been declared throughout Mexico, with Aguis Calientes as a neutral zone. He stated also that elections will be held, according to the first agreement, from October 5 to 10.

These points had been agreed on, he said, at a preliminary conference at Zacatecas, after which General Villa's party left for Aguis Calientes to confer with General Obregon and other Carranza leaders. Villa was met at Zacatecas by a commission headed by General Hay. Benavides said the first meeting had aroused great optimism for a happy outcome of the conferences.

FOLLOWING ORIGINAL PLAN.

Carranza's Resignation May Take Place After Racatecas Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—General Carranza's resignation, generally expected as a step in healing the breach with General Villa and his followers, may not take place until after the conference of military chiefs, seeking to compose the differences, finishes its work at Zacatecas.

The Zacatecas conference was expected to assemble today. Information received here is that its sole purpose it to reply to the demands of Villa. Chief among these is Carranza's resignation, and while that may be pledged it was said that Carranza probably will follow his original plan of not actually giving up his place until the Mexico City convention chooses a provisional president.

Communications from Mexico, slow in transmission and hampered by a rigid censorship, shed no light on whether it will be delayed to await the outcome of the Zacatecas conference. The view that it will be delayed prevails in administration circles and among some close to Carranza.

The attitude of the administration continues one of impartial observation.

President Wilson said today that the outlook for a peaceful settlement in Mexico was very good. The President said Secretary Bryan has taken up appeals for the relief of nuns and priests in Mexico, but that at present there was little this government could do.

BISHOP CURRIER PROTESTS.

Complains Against Seizure of Church Property in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Bishop Currier of Matanzas, Cuba, made representations today to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan against seizure of Catholic Church property in Mexico by Constitutionalists and against alleged killing and robbing of priests and nuns. The President told him that every thing possible was being done to relieve the situation.

KING THE DIRECTOR.

Rockefeller Institute to Probe Country's Industrial Conditions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Rockefeller Institute announced today that it has decided to make a far-reaching investigation of the industrial conditions in this country, and has retained the services of W. L. Mackenzie King, former minister of labor in Canada, as director of the investigation.

The announcement was made in a statement issued here by Jerome D. Green, secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation. "In spirit and method the investigation of the problem of industrial relations will be like that carried on by the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research," the statement says, "and other inquiries instituted by the Rockefeller boards.

"In facing the problem of industrial relations, the Rockefeller Foundation is deliberately attempting to grapple with what it believes to be the most complicated and at the same time the most urgent question of modern times, and it is precisely for this reason that the investigation has been instituted.

"In no sense will the investigation be local or restricted or carried on with particular reference to any existing situation, or for that matter with reference to conditions in any one country. The experience of the several countries of the world will be drawn upon.

"In going to another country and selecting as the person to have the direction of this most important work one whose public services have gained for him an outstanding position as a leading authority on industrial problems, the trustees have shown their desire to free the foundation from any suspicion of interest or prejudice in the investigation of the most controversial of all problems."

DEER UNUSUALLY PLENTIFUL.

Season Opens in Maine for Residents and Non-Residents.

BANGOR, Maine, Oct. 1.—The season during which it is legal for any resident and any non-resident, with a proper license, to kill two deer, opened today and will continue until December 15. The open season on moose is confined to the month of November. Game wardens report deer unusually plentiful and that moose are fairly numerous.

BISHOP EDWARD PARKER WEDS.

Head of Protestant Episcopal Diocese Marries Miss Goodrich.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 1.—In St. Paul's Church at noon today Rt. Rev. Edward Melville Parker, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire and Miss Isabella Goodrich, daughter of the late Rev. James Bratner Goodrich, were united in marriage. Rev. W. Stanley Emery performed the ceremony and Professor Charles P. Parker of Harvard University was his brother's best man.

WHOLE SKY LIGHTED BY BURSTING SHELLS.

French Town of Albert Scene of Murderous Artillery Battle.

As Point of the German Wedge, Completely Destroyed.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Telegraphing from Paris, under date of Wednesday, the correspondent of the Daily Mail describes the complete destruction by German heavy artillery of the open and unfortified town of Albert, 18 miles from Amiens, which has been the scene during the past few days of a prolonged and terribly murderous artillery battle. He says:

"The struggle by the Germans to prevent their right wing being turned compelled them continually to push their front further north and to the east, while the allies continually replied by extending their front to overlap the enemy, both sides bringing up large re-inforcements. This necessitated long marches of 20 to 25 miles a day and the Germans were repeatedly called upon to make a desperate effort in order to avoid being outflanked, whereby they suffered very heavy losses.

"On Saturday they began to realize that their efforts were in vain. They, therefore, changed their tactics and tried to drive a wedge into the allies' front. The point of that wedge was the town of Albert. The attempt almost succeeded. They brought up and massed their artillery, and the French infantry suffered considerably. They kept up a fire so rapid in character that at night the whole sky was lit up by bursting shells. Sunday they gained perceptibly and Monday they still pressed on, but by that time the French had brought up large numbers of their famous quick-firing batteries and their deadly fire checked the German advance.

"Yesterday the enemy kept up his efforts gamely, but by late afternoon it had clearly failed of its aim. There were French batteries at various points around Albert, but none within a mile of the town. At 5:10 o'clock German shells from their heavy guns began to fall. Here is an account of the siege from an eye-witness who was on a hill overlooking Albert:

"We were warned along the road to be careful, and saw a vast column of people coming away from the town, but nothing happened until 5:10, when we heard a deep boom, quite unlike the noise made by an ordinary field gun, and a shell, evidently of much greater force and size, fell in the town. We thought it must be an accident of misdirection and then to our indignation the shells began to fall rapidly. They came in bunches. There were several batteries at work and their aim was excellent. I only saw three shells burst outside the town. The place collapsed literally like a pack of cards that had been built up for children, for every incident something fresh went. Now it was the town hall, now a group of cottages and then a high wall.

"It reminded one of a scene in a Drury Lane melodrama. One could not believe without an effort that one was seeing a real town shelled. It was just as if some inventor had made a new kind of explosive and had invited his friends to see it demolish a model of a town. I stayed there an hour and was fascinated.'

"The road toward Amiens at that time was packed with refugees of all ages, and old men and women, too feeble to walk, were being wheeled in barrows.

"At 6:30 a number of fires, lighting up the whole countryside, were visible. Looking toward Albert they appeared to be hay ricks, which had been set alight by shells. The largest of these red glares, however, was Albert on fire. Against the flaming background the tall spire of a church stood out uninjured up to 8 o'clock, but it was impossible to enter the town, as the heat was too great and the streets too unsafe."

IDLE BECAUSE OF THE WAR.

Banks and Trust Companies to Aid in Finding Wall Street Clerks Work.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The banks and trust companies today were requested to assist in finding positions for Wall Street clerks who have been idle, a whole or part of the time since the Stock Exchange closed soon after war was declared in Europe.

Yesterday Wall Street, which seldom feels the pinch of hard times experienced by employes of commercial and manufacturing concerns, saw the unusual spectacle of a hundred clerks, among them three women, standing in line waiting to apply for aid. These clerks, formerly employed in financial district brokerage houses, who sought relief or work to tide them over the present dull period caused by the war, came in response to notices that their former employers had organized a committee for their relief.

NO PROTEST YET ENTERED.

Shipment of Hydro-Aeroplane Raises Question of International Law.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Shipment of the hydro-aeroplane America to England from New York on the Mauretania has raised a new question of international law. If classed as munitions of war, the aeroplane will be subject to seizure as contraband. Should it be classed as a warship the United States might be charged with responsibility for its departure from a neutral port. No protest has been made and the vexing question has not yet come up officially.

RUSH ORDER FOR FLOUR.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—A rush order for 110,000 barrels of flour was placed with a local milling company yesterday by representatives of one of the warring nations, the identity of which was not disclosed. This is the largest single sale of flour ever made here. The flour will be made of Kansas wheat and will require 5,000,000 bushels. Shipments from Kansas fields to St. Louis will begin within a few days and the flour will be rushed to New York as fast as made. The price was not made public.

ON ANY FAIR TERMS.

Federal League Club Owner Ready for Peace With Organized Base Ball.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Club owners of the Federal League are ready to make peace with organized base ball on any "fair and honorable terms," according to a statement made here today by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal League. "We stand ready to meet organized base ball half-way on any peace proposition," Gilmore set forth in his statement, "but I don't want to place our organization in a false light. We are not standing on the doorstep, hat in hand. The base ball war could be ended promptly and honorably if President Johnson of the American League and his associates would deign to meet us as business men and discuss the subject as a business proposition."

President Gilmore asserted his belief that peace could come to base ball whether men identified with the National and American Leagues want it or no. "There is no room for three major leagues, he asserted, and believed one must fall.

THE USE FOR THE WAR TAX.

Not even a warning that the Democratic party in Congress would be split in two by pressing the bill to a vote avails to check the President's determination to secure a fleet of cargo steamers, though there are contradictory reports about his willingness to let the bill go over for this session. Some say he will be satisfied to have the bill passed at the next session, and other reports are that he will not let Congress adjourn until it has passed his bill. When this country was a republic Congress used to adjourn when it pleased, without obtaining leave of absence from the President.

The war tax bill is not going through the Senate as easily as it did through the House. The House is doing so much business under suspension of the rules that the unlimited debate in the Senate is becoming absolutely essential to preserve any semblance of popular government.

If Congress will kill the tax bill the merchant fleet bill will be dropped because there will be no money for it. On the other hand, if Congress will kill the merchant fleet bill, there will be no occasion for the war tax bill. It is too early to know absolutely, but there is no indication now that the government will need anything like $105,000,000 of additional revenue unless it buys and operates a fleet of cargo steamers. Of course it is likely to need some money, though nothing like that amount, but if it is going into the carrying trade it may need the supplemental revenue provided in the House bill.

The determination of the President to put the government into the carrying trade is the only explanation of his tenacity in insisting on a supplemental tax bill calculated to yield 37 per cent of the amount of last year's customs collections. He is anxious to immortalize himself as the Father of the American Merchant Marine, and he knows it will cost a lot of money. No other plausible explanation has been offered of his determination to put both these bills through. Congress begs and protests, but does not dream of asserting itself and doing as it pleases. It understands that it must obey.

"MOVIES" AS AN AID TO SCIENCE.

One of the important purposes for which moving pictures have been employed is for the exhibition of the life of animals and insects. In this way they have been made to assist science and those who are studying living creatures. At the Museum of Natural History in New York are films which show the growth and development of animal and insect life, and these are particularly valuable because it is difficult to accomplish this purpose with an ordinary camera. These show snakes, spiders and insects emerging from their eggs or cocoons, their growth through various stages and many other features of their life which are not only interesting but important in scientific study. Such moving pictures are not intended necessarily for public exhibition, though they may be devoted to that use also, but primarily are for those engaged in the study of forms of life which cannot be watched in their birth and development in any other way.

It is rather startling to see these films present on the screen insects of almost human size and crawling creatures so large on the canvas as to appear almost like the gigantic specimens of early ages found in fossil forms. There is a deep interest in them, even by those who are only curious, while to those eager to study these creatures the pictures are of incalculable value, presenting life under conditions which cannot deviate from the actual. Moving pictures have done much to instruct the public and have been brought into use in many ways unthought of when they first appeared, and now the scientists are finding them practically indispensable in the studies in which they are engaged. This is a wonderful age, and one of its most wonderful features is the development of the "movies" from mere amusement purposes to those of instruction in almost every department of education.

LETTING GO OF VERA CRUZ.

We are very much in the position in Mexico of the hunter who saved himself from a bear by catching hold of its tail. So long as he could hang on he was safe from the beast's jaws, but he could not hang on indefinitely; to let go meant to fall instantly into the fore paws of the animal, so he shouted lustily to his companions to help him let go.

Of course we are anxious to let go in Mexico. We have had better luck than we had any business to expect; so far we have kept out of war with the country, but we can hardly expect to remain in Vera Cruz indefinitely. Considering the situation at present, this is not exactly the moment to retire, as the English and Russian envoys to Mexico have said, to the great wrath of our administration.

General Zapata is reported to have expressed a wish that we should keep Funston and his brigade in the chief Mexican seaport, but Zapata is not a large factor in the situation and Carranza and Villa are. Happily for us, there is an abatement of signs of war between these two patriots. Villa says he will not be a candidate for president, and Carranza has given some assurance of the same sort—either that he will not be a candidate, or that he will leave his provisional presidency before the election. Mexico may have what it never had before, with the possible exception of the election of Madero, one not dominated by the troops of the official candidate.

If Carranza and Villa will efface themselves from this election, the choice of somebody else would be the greatest luck in the world for President Wilson, for it would afford him a chance of taking our troops out of the country. If they leave without any trouble we hope that for the future our government will not undertake to decide on the validity of any Mexican president's claim to his office. What would we have done, for example, if Great Britain had refused to recognize the title of Rutherford B. Hayes to the Presidency, had withdrawn its ambassador, massed its troops along the northern frontier and kept a squadron of battleships in our ports?

MORE HORSES NEEDED.

There is likely to be a big demand for horses in Europe as a result of the war. Not so many of these animals are used in actual operations now as formerly, since motor-driven vehicles are employed, but the need has developed in another direction because of the use of motors. To supply the demand for these vehicles many which were employed for transportation purposes in large cities, for either passengers or freight, have been seized by the governments and pressed into service in connection with the military operations. The result has been that as substitutes for these resort has been made to horse-drawn vehicles, for both passenger service and for the carrying of merchandise. It was probably never expected that the time would ever come again when horse busses would be used in large cities, but they are now being substituted for motors as a matter of necessity, since the latter vehicles have almost all been sent to the front for service with the armies.

It may be that there will be some difficulty in supplying this new and sudden demand for horses. It has been said that there are still as many in use as before motor vehicles were employed, but if that be the case it is evident that the supply can hardly be equal to the need now, when more are needed and motor vehicles also are required to their full number. It may be that this country will be called upon to help supply this new demand for horses, or that some persons here may see the opportunity to sell at good prices to the governments or business men of Europe, and in this way the United States will be affected by the war, as well as so many others not anticipated when the conflict began. The value of horses on this side of the ocean in such a case would of course be increased, and so there would be benefit to the owners.

HELPING PAY EXPENSES.

In Kansas City, Mo., last year the printing department of the vocational work of the high school saved the expenditure by the board of about $1,200. That is a practical application of the principles embodied in vocational work in the schools, and it is worth while to have a printing department if it can accomplish such results. It would be well indeed if in every place where vocational training is a part of the public school system that work were directed in such a way as to help defray the expenses, and so make it to some extent at least self-supporting.

There is no reason why this should not be done. Kansas City has shown one way in which it can be brought about, and this is by no means the only one open by which the same end can be accomplished. Other trades and industrial activities can be used to contribute to the support of the department directing them, and every little help along this line will be welcome and will make the schools seem more valuable and vocational training particularly useful.

Though the prohibition of the sale of Vodka, the popular Russian drink, was only a war measure, it has worked so well that the Czar has determined to stop its use altogether. There has been, it is said, a tremendously improved condition of the country since the traffic was prohibited. Visitors returning from southern Russia say the country is already hardly recognizable. Peasants who, before the war, had fallen into hopeless indolence and depravity, already have emerged into self-respecting citizens. These people now save 55 per cent of their earnings, which formerly was spent for drink, and have increased their earning capacity through sobriety. There is, then, actually some good result from the war.

Abdul Aziz, the deposed Sultan of Morocco, adds his protest to others against the atrocities said to have been committed by the Germans in the present war. Criticism from such a source is specially notable, but the charge of general German atrocities has not yet been thoroughly authenticated.

Congress is eager for adjournment, and the people are with it, in this respect at least.

TO ENRICH ENGLAND.

Belgian Refugees Will Add New Element to Population of the British Isles.

[New York Tribune.]

The prospective exodus of Belgian refugees to England promises to add a new and permanent element to the population of the British Isles. For it is inconceivable that a large percentage of the million peasants and burghers for which the United Kingdom is making provision will not remain within her hospitable boundaries, whatever the outcome of the war. And it will not be the first time in history that Great Britain has offered her shores as a refuge to the persecuted and harassed of the turbulent continent and enriched her human stock thereby.

Indeedl, since the Norman conquest this has been practically her only method of introducing new blood into her veins. The Dutch, who found her an asylum from Spanish tyranny; the French Huguenots, who fled to her after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes; the Jews, who flocked to her to escape the Spanish Inquisition, have all contributed not inconsiderably to the type we are pleased to call Anglo-Saxon. Now these thrifty, gentle and heroic Belgians will have an opportunity to pay in like manner for the generous hospitality of their British sympathizers and allies.

THE TOP O' THE YEAR.

October is the Clarion Call and the True Beginning of New Life.

[Mary Eleanor Roberts, in Lippincott's.]

The calendar tells us that the year begins on the first of January. Almost every one thinks that it begins in the spring. Neither is true. It begins in October. The spring delusion is an ancestral survival, like fear of the dark, or a tendency to stand with one's back to the wall. To our unfortunate forefathers, doomed to life imprisonment in the foss of an ill-conditioned island, the return of the sun seemed the renewal of life. To any one who has lived through a British winter, the first snowdrop is an event, the first cowslip a blessing from the gods.

Not so to the more fortunate American. His winter sun has never ceased to smile. His frosty days of dazzling blue and white have shown him the celestial country. But his energy decreases with the first warm winds. Spring is a time of running down, not of winding up. It is a season of sentimentality, of lassitude, of slackening of mental fibre, over-rated, overpraised.

The youth of the year is in October. All colleges and universities are obliged to conform to this rhythmic law. They muster their cohorts under the banner of autumn. All charitable societies have found it necessary to adjust their calendars to this beat of the human pulse. "Our year begins in October," say their announcements. Truly it does so. So does the year of the heart, the year of the mind, the year of all eager energies. These days are a goblet full of the wine of life. We stand upon the great divide, and our kingdom lies below us. Let us march down and take possession. October is the clarion call, the reveille, the true beginning, the top o' the year.

SURPRISE OF THE WAR.

New Siege Guns of the Germans Spell the Doom of All Fortresses.

[Berlin Despatch.]

It is still too early to attempt to base general predictions concerning war in the future upon what the engagements of the present great war have shown. One prediction, however, does seem fairly justified already. That is that the day of fortresses has passed.

The new 42-centimetre (16.8-inch) siege gun of the German forces appears to have demonstrated its ability to demolish the strongest fortifications ever made. Pictures of the demolition at Liege bear striking testimony to the power of this new arm. A single projectile demolished utterly walls of reinforced cement and steel, ripped open steel towers and piled the mass upon the fort's defenders.

This new siege gun has been the surprise of the war. It has been repeatedly asserted that no nation has any military secrets that are not in the possession of all other important nations, but events have proved not only that the existence of this terrible weapon was not known to foreign nations, but that only a limited number of high army officials in all Germany had so much as heard of it. A member of the Reichstag, whose name is not given, is quoted as follows in a German paper:

"The fact that the German army possessed such a gun was as much of a surprise to the Germans as to foreigners, for its construction and nature were kept secret, as the situation demanded, so that even in the empire only a limited number knew about it. When the trials were finished and all was ready to begin the construction of the new gun, the problem presented itself of making this wonderful work of war without attracting any attention.

"More than 40 officers participated in the preliminary discussion over the preparation of the military budget for the consideration of the budget commission of the Reichstag. When the subject of 'arms' was reached the head of this department requested that this part of the budget be not debated at that time.

"At the close of the session he told me confidentially that a new siege gun was in consideration. The general staff, he said, had urgently requested that not a word be said about the matter in the budget commission. Not even the officers, they declared, knew of what was being done.

"The request of the general staff was observed. Then work on the new gun began. A number of them are already at the front and others are in the arsenals. Six weeks ago, as member of the commission on arms, I was in a gun factory, and was informed that any number of tubes and projectiles for the guns can be finished in a very brief time, not to mention the great supply on hand.

"I asked whether these guns were themselves out quickly, and was assured by an expert that there are not enough forts in the world to wear out a single gun."

AMERICA SENT TO ENGLAND.

Lieutenant Porte's Airship Believed to be Destined for War Service.

The mammoth aeroplane America, with which Lieut. Porte had expected to fly across the Atlantic, was shipped to England Wednesday on steamer Mauretania, and it is said will be used by the British government for war service. The America is said to be the world's most powerful aeroplane. Lieutenant John C. Porte, who expected to make the trip across the Atlantic in the America, is an officer in the British navy and soon after war was declared returned to England.

The American and two other aeroplanes manufactured by a company having a plant in Hammondsport, N. Y., were taken to New York on a special train 20 hours before the Mauretania sailed. The two other aeroplanes were placed in the same hold with the America and were consigned to the same person. It was further learned that the machines were "knocked down" in the factory at Hammondsport and taken from there to the railroad at Bath, N. Y., in several high-powered automobiles. At Bath they were hastily loaded on a special train ordered for the purpose. Upon their arrival in New York the America and the two other machines were loaded on lighters and taken on the Mauretania. All was done under the cover of the darkness.

It is understood that the America has been purchased by a private individual and will be turned over to the British government upon its arrival in Liverpool. It was further reported that several other aeroplanes of the same type as the America have been ordered by the America's purchased, and that these, too, will be presented to the British government.

PLENTY OF BEEF.

Eight Million Head of Cattle in Texas Waiting to be Slaughtered.

The long looked for solution of the beef problem seems near. According to Joseph Hartugan, commissioner of weights and measures and secretary of the New York mayor's committee on food supply, there are 8,000,000 head of cattle waiting to be slaughtered in Texas in what is known as the black prairie lands. The cattel are owned by men not in any way connected with the trust, which is said to control beef prices. The owners of the 8,000,000 head are organizing to provide for the receiving, distribution and sale of their beef in New York city. That they will act independently is assured, since the present beef interests are far from being popular in the black prairie lands. Commissioner Hartigan says:

"In the gulf coast country there has been a development during the last 10 years toward the building up of a cattle industry. The development has come about through the combined efforts of the state of Texas and the farmers and ranchers. This has resulted in the raising and gathering of the 8,000,000 head of cattle.

"Because of stringent supervision by state authorities, protection is extended to independent dealers. Free access is permitted to the markets and such assistance given in herding, feeding and shipping that any monopoly is impracticable. With the establishment of a line of refrigerator ships, beef can be brought to New York city in less than two weeks.

"It is asserted by authorities that Texas beef of the present day is superior in every way to South American beef. Beef brought from Argentina to New York takes about two months in transit."

LET CHILDREN WRITE.

Desks and Materials Lead to Cultivation of Use of Pen and Ink.

[Mothers' Magazine.]

Perhaps many a poor penman would have written a more creditable hand if in childhood he had had a desk of his own, in a suitable place, provided with materials for writing at such times as he chose. It would have seemed an art more worth cultivating under the condition than when he had to write on his knees or on a littered table.

Every child's room should have a private desk or table where he may write. Here he should have a stock of pens, penholders, pencils, pads and writing paper, and he should be trained to use these materials frequently. Such a bit of property helps him to cultivate neatness and order. If he evidences sloveliness at first, the mother should urge him to orderliness, and inspect his desk until he has attained neatness. It should be impressed upon him that this is part of his training, that as a man he will always need to keep his papers in place and in order, and that if he is to be in the employ of others it will be to his advantage to have formed good habits in such matters.

The child will take pride in possession of his own desk and pens, and this will lead him to the cultivation of the use of pen and ink.

HOW THE WAR AFFECTS MUSIC.

Scheduled Performances Impossible Because Singers are Fighting in Europe.

Absence of Foreign Stars will Give Impetus to Movement for Grand Opera in English.

[Frederic J. Haskin, in Washington Star.]

The war in Europe has caused the abandonment of the regular grand opera season in at least four American cities. An important symphony tour planned months ago through the West has been given up because the musicians have been detained in Europe. Popular male stars are being forced into the armies of their native lands. A number of prominent woman singers have refused to make engagements because they are unwilling to sing when Europe is in the throes of warfare. Ivan Narodny claims that in the Russian army alone are enrolled 100,000 musicians, many of whom have distinguished reputations. Because of these conditions critics are predicting an unusual year of music in America.

The directors of the Chicago Grand Opera Company announce that there will be no performance this season, due to the difficulties in securing musicians. Heinrich Hensel, their leading German tenor, is in the German army. The directors have decided to return over $260,000 to subscribers. The failure of the opera company to supply performances involves a loss of more than $130,000. A slight offset to this loss may be made by arranging for short seasons at popular prices, the parts to be taken by singers now in this country and available for contract.

The abandonment of the season by the Chicago Grand Opera Company, debars Philadelphia and Baltimore also from grand opera, since the same performers make up the schedules in these cities. Subscriptions approximating $160,000 will be returned to opera subscribers in Philadelphia. Edward Stotesbury, the president of the Philadelphia Opera House, has announced the intended endeavor of the directors to secure some operas from visiting members of the Metropolitan Company of New York. The Boston Opera Company has issued a statement that since at least 11 of its artists are already in military service in Europe, it will be impossible to provide the performances scheduled. Most of these singers are in the army of the allies. Lucia Muratore, the husband of Lina Cavalieri; Alban Grand, Edouard Tourman and Anthony Dubois are in the French army. Leo Devaux and Clement Deru are fighting with the Belgians.

The responsibility for grand opera in America this season now rests with the Metropolitan and the Century opera companies of New York. Many doubts had been expressed regarding the performances of the Metropolitan Opera Company, especially if Italy should declare war. These were set at rest by the formal announcement that the company expects to carry through the entire season with some alterations in the schedule first planned. Its season in New York will open November 16 with "Carmen." Geraldine Farrar will sing the title role for the first time, and Caruso will sing the part of Don Jose. It is understood that the Wagner cycle will be omitted because so many German singers are in military service.

The Century company will open earlier. The proceeds for the tickets sold for the first two performances will be applied to the work of the Red Cross Society. The first performance will be for the Red Cross work of the allies and the second for the work in the armies in Germany and Austria. Society women under the direction of Miss Mabel Beardman have arranged for these two monster benefit performances. Large blocks of tickets have been distributed and sold weeks in advance.

The Boston Symphony canceled its engagements for the fall tour because of the impossibility of assembling the orchestra. The tour was to have been made in October previous to the regular Boston season. All the important members of the orchestra have now been heard from, so it is believed that there will be no doubt regarding the regular concert schedules for the season of 1914-15.

The Philharmonic Society of New York has lost at least two members of the orchestra. Henri Leon Le Roy, the first clarinetist, had returned to New York, but was obliged to go back to France for service in the army, and Joseph Gotsch, the leading cellist, is reported to be in the fighting front. Several other members, including the conductor, are yet to be heard from, but arrangements will be made for their substitutes. Leopold Stowski, the leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra, announced recently that 18 of his musicians are being held in Europe, though he expects to secure substitutes for them. Their absence may prevent the presentation of Mahler's Eighth Symphony, an elaborate composition, which had been a cherished project for this season's performance.

While the performances of grand opera companies and symphony orchestras are being interfered with by the war, it is predicted that the number of concerts by individual performers will go far to make up for the lack. Mme. Sembrich, who had canceled all her American engagements for this winter, has re-considered her decision and will sail from Rotterdam early in October. Tina Lerner, the Russian pianist, will come to America at least a month earlier because of conditions in Europe. Miss Lerner had a concert tour planned late in the season, but decided to sail at the earliest opportunity. She has already had some difficulties in crossing the borders of her native land. Germaine Schnitzer, a distinguished German pianist, who has been spending the summer in the United States with the intention of returning to Europe, has canceled her European engagements. She will devote this season to concert work in this country. Those in touch with musical conditions intimate that many other distinguished artists will come to us; so instead of continuous schedules of long-arranged events the coming season will be rich in surprises of many kinds.

The abandonment of the regularly scheduled operas will open the way for the appearance of many unknown artists. Already in several cities the organization of temporary companies is being considered. Such companies will bring forward excellent local musicians who have been unable to secure hearings heretofore. It is predicted that the absence of foreign stars will also give great impetus to the movement for grand opera in English.

WAR AND THE RULERS.

When Smith is moved to sudden heat

Brown, swollen big with pride of birth,

And needs a thicker coat of tan,

WOMEN AS SEA CAPTAINS.

[The Strand.]

America is the only country where the full title of "captain" has been bestowed upon women. This was strikingly illustrated a few years ago by a decision of the London board of trade, which refused to grant a yachtmaster's certificate to Lady Ernestine Brudenell Bruce, a well-known yachtswoman of England, who had thoroughly prepared herself for the examination in seamanship and navigation. She appeared before the board of trade and asked to take the examination, pointing out that she merely desired authority to command her own yacht, and had no intention of serving on board other ships. The board of trade, nevertheless, refused to grant her request, on the ground that it could not permit a woman to be examined for a "master's" certificate, as the word "master" clearly implied that only men were eligible, not taking into consideration the broader meaning of the word.

SHIP BILL BAD POLITICS.

[Boston Transcript.]

It is gratifying to note President Wilson's acquiescence in the postponement of the ship purchase bill, so called. Sensible Democratic leaders see that if the purpose of the bill was to acquire interned German liners our neutrality would vanish into thin air, and that apart from that issue an appropriation of thirty million or more at a time when a war tax of one hundred and five millions is about to be placed on the country is bad politics.

ROCKEFELLER "A FINE MAN."

"Pat" Murphy, a Yonkers laborer, has maintained right along that John D. Rockefeller was a fine, democratic man. Recently Mr. Rockefeller's car stopped in front of a store in that town, and while a footman went in to make some purchases, the "oil king" sat watching the crowds. Murphy seemed to be the only one who recognized him. He advanced and stuck out his hand.

"Put 'er there, John, old scout," he said.

Mr. Rockefeller "put 'er there" and the two shook hands heartily. Then they chatted until the footman came out of the store.

"Just as I thought—a fine man," was Murphy's comment.

IMPORTANT
Owing to the conditions occasioned by the European war the drug and chemical market of the United States is in a most unusual and chaotic condition.
The fact that about 75 per cent of the DRUGS and CHEMICALS used in this country are of foreign origin may not be generally known. Because of the depressed business conditions the past year there was a small supply of such goods in this country at the outbreak of the war. The suddenness of the war and the consequent cutting off of commercial relations with the countries involved has brought about a scarcity of supplies and a rapid advance of prices. Stocks of foreign toilet and medicinal preparations have been advanced 25, 50 and 100 per cent in price.
The condition now confronting the trade is not so much one of prices but of SUPPLIES TO SELL AT ANY PRICE. For the moment many articles are practically out of the market and, until foreign commerce is again restored to somewhere near normal conditions, fresh stocks can not be obtained.
It is important that you should realize these facts so that you may be prepared for the changes in prices that occur from day to day.

ON THE DEATH ROLL.

Jeremiah O'Connor, Well Known Gardener, and Mrs. Philip F. Harrington.

Mr. Jeremiah O'Connor, out of the oldest gardeners in Newport, died at his home on Chapel street Wednesday, after a long illness. For many years, and until old age incapacitated hom for work, he was gardener on the Edgar place on Old Beach road, and he was one of the best known Irishmen in Newport. Though of a quiet disposition, he was interested in affairs and was liked by all who knew him, and in those years that meant all of the parishioners of St. Mary's parish. He was one of the oldest, if not the oldest, member of the Father Mathew Society, which will turn out for his funeral. He leaves one daughter and three sons —Timothy J., John F. J. and Stephen A. O'Connor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Agnes, wife of Letter Carrier Philip F. Harrington, died early this morning at her home on Spring street, after a lingering illness. She was a woman of fine personality and had many friends in the community. She is survived by her husband and three children—Mrs. Cornelius W. R. Callahan, Mrs. John F. Sullivan and John J Harrington, the son being employed at the Torpedo Station.

KILLED IN ACTION.

Three of the Newport Frenchmen Who Went to the War.

According to a letter received here by one of the French chefs, three of the Newport Frenchmen who went to the war have been killed in action. They are Mr. Paulus, who kept a store on Franklin street and turned it over to the auctioneer and left for the front, his goods having only recently been disposed of; Mr. Mercier, who was a cook for Senator Wetmore, and Mr. Andree, who has been employed here in former years and was here this season when hostilities broke out.

JAMESTOWN.

Late Trips of Ferry Service Discontinued—Mrs. L. W. Anthony Surprised.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The two late trips of the ferry service to Newport have been discontinued, the last now leaving that city at 9:10. If the travel warrants, this will be run throughout the winter. The ferry automobile bus has been taken off and horse stages will make the connections with the West Bay boat during the winter.

Mrs. L. W. Anthony was given a genuine surprise party by the members of the P. H. Society Wednesday, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth. The evening was spent at Dutch whist. Mrs. G. L. Barber and Mrs. J. Smith winning the prizes. Mrs. Anthony was the recipient of a number of handsome and useful presents. Refreshments were served.

A number of candidates are mentioned for the nomination for representative at the November election, and although undoubtedly many will withdraw a contest for both senator and representative seems assured.

Mr. E. O. Shakespeare and family, who have occupied the Knowles cottage on Conanicus avenue during the past season, have left for their home in Philadelphia.

Mr. J. T. Jeffries and family, who have occupied the Rhett cottage during the summer, have left for Philadelphia.

Mr. Howard Benoist has closed his cottage on the south shore and left with his family for their winter home in St. Louis.

Mr. J. E. Watson celebrated the anniversary of his birth Wednesday evening by a small gathering at his home on Narragansett avenue.

Mr. A. P. Baugh and family, who have occupied the Elmer cottage on the Dumplings have returned to Wynnewood ,Pa.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The goods and chattels of the Russian embassy are on the move today to the cars, en route to Washington.

—Dr. and Mrs. Darrah have gone on a short vacation trip, which will include a visit to the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

—Again today, as so often in the past, the police failed to do anything to help the news gatherer. Neither arrest, prosecution, complaint nor kick was reported.

—Mr. Peter Knig, Jr., of this year's graduating class at the Rogers High School, has entered the senior class at Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass., and will next year go to Harvard.

—This is a different day, so far as weather is concerned, from Wednesday. Everybody spoke of the fine morning, and it continued to be fine. It is not summer, though the thermometer went up to 120 in the sun: it is autumn, and fine weather.

—The Intrepid, Mr. Lloyd Phoenix, went up the bay today, and steam yacht Nirvana, ex-Senator Aldrich, came down, but the active yachting season of 1914 is over. Superintendent Whitten has put the New York Yacht Club house out of commission. It is not all over, but very nearly so.

—Steamer Commonwealth will go out of commission Sunday and be laid up at the repair shops for her winter overhauling. The Providence, which has been overhauled at the repair shops since the close of the Providence line, will take her place. Later the Plymouth will relieve the Priscilla.

—Friday, when Auctioneer F. W. Greene has his annual fall horse show and sale, will be the cleaning-up time for all sorts of horse effects, from horses to carriages, wagons and harness. These sales in years gone by have been big affairs, but there are more automobiles now. They last all day and bring buyers from all around.

—The committee on fire department will meet Friday evening.

—Wednesday evening the committee on new schoolhouse met with Superintendent Lull and Architect Weaver, and talked over the tentative plans for the new Clark building. The architect had made sketches to aid the members in understanding the situation.

—From the Training Station comes a report of lightning Wednesday morning during the storm. The men in the power station thought something had happened but were not sure until they left work, when they saw that the big stack had been the target for lightning. No special damage was done, except the displacing of a few bricks and a hole in the ground.

TORPEDO WENT TO THE BOTTOM.

Left the Tube All Right But Failed to Make Its Run.

Important Test of Missile With Warhead Attached Without Definite Results.

There was an important naval test at Coddington cove this morning, but without definite results, as they say regarding actions in the European theatre of war. It was the firing for the second time in Narragansett bay, of an automobile torpedo with warhead attached, the previous event of this kind being about 20 years ago, when the late Rear Admiral George A. Converse was inspector in charge at the station. Two of the present staff of the Daily News were present at the firing of that first test.

This morning one of the later build of torpedoes, valued at $4,000, was booked to be used for the purpose of trying a new explosive for the warhead and a new device for penetrating protective nets. The lack of definite result was due to the failure of the torpedo to make its run, and so the experts have not yet had their faith shaken in the belief that they have something which will make the present nets of foreign navies unavailing against a torpedo attack from the American navy.

Commander Robison of the Torpedo Station, with a full corps of officers and experts as observers, went to the cove just before 11 o'clock, in the Morris and other craft from the Station. Daily News representatives were also there. A float had been arranged off the east shore and from this was suspended the torpedo net which was to be the target. The Morris manoeuvred around, after the observing craft had been carefully located where they could flee if the torpedo showed a tendency to run wild.

At 11:06, the Morris having made a short run straight out from the target and come to a stop, the trigger was pulled which explodes the small expelling charge in the torpedo tube. The brilliantly polished and huge missile popped out of the tube and landed in the water with a splash. So far all was regular and the Morris sped away in the opposite direction, but the usual commotion was not observed on the surface; neither did the torpedo broach, and apparently it went straight to the bottom.

It is not unknown for the engines in torpedoes to fail to start when they leave the tube, and unless they run the torpedo does not proceed on its mission. The result in this case is that, instead of a harmless missile with a practice head to be searched for, there now lies on the bottom of the cove one with a warhead, containing a charge of such high explosive that it is believed to be capable of tearing the biggest battleship asunder.

Up to 3 o'clock the torpedo had not been located. It ran about 60 feet and then sank, as nearly as could be judged from the observation boats Because of the danger of such an object in an unknown location, guard boats have been detailed to keep all craft away.

The suggestion that the United States navy is striving to secure something which will make foreign ships easy victims does not mean that this country is likely to engage in the present European troubles, but shows that the navy is alive to the demands of the times and trying to be prepared for eventualities. The recent sinking of three British cruisers by torpedoes from a submarine has naturally caused naval men to view the possibilities, and it is to be believed that craft which have not heretofore been provided with nets are now being equipped. Hence the resumption of experiments at the Torpedo Station to find a way to make the net a thing of little or no value is an undertaking of great importance.

CAN PLAY BASE BALL.

Montana Team Should Give the Trojans a Stiff Argument Sunday.

The Montana base ball team has received much favorable mention by reason of its good playing and should give the Trojans a stiff argument Sunday. In Bennett and Cooper it has two clever twirlers and the Trojans will find it hard to make headway against either. Bennett held the Newports to three hits in each of the games he pitched, and Cooper is said to be better. Wiggins, the catcher, is a clever all-round ball player and can hit. The other stars are Argue, first baseman; Whitmore, left field, and Moser, short stop. By winning 12 games in a row the sailor team has made a showing which makes it plain that they can play base ball.

AT THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

When the Democrats hold the first of their two sets of caucuses for the state election, Friday evening, several things are to be done. A member of the state central committee is to be elected, delegates are to be chosen to a and Congressional Conventions and also committee, and delegates to the state an ongressional conventions and also for a city convention which will nominate a candidate for senator. Everything but the nomination of candidates for the General Assembly will thus be done as a result of this caucus. The other, to be held later, will be district caucuses.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS.

High-Water Mark on Third Street Reached, Vaughan Avenue Commenced.

The high-water mark has been reached in the Third Street improvement. Stone is now being carted to Vaughan avenue and Monday, if things go as they promise, Street Commissioner Hamilton will be able to take one of the rollers off Third street and put it on Vaughan avenue. It has been a steady draw for stone, large quantities and long haul, but the stone has been furnished as fast as needed and the street commissioner agrees that the crusher which Mr. Dugan secured for this work was fully able to do it, without causing any delay. It is the greatest crusher which ever worked here. Perhaps others could have done as much work, but they never did.

Incidentally, the ledge, where for so many years stone has been taken out, has disappeared under the great demand for this year, but there is still plenty of stone in the vicinity.

LOW RECORD FOR RAINFALL

Three Quarters of an Inch the Total for Septmber.

The rainfall Wednesday after 8 A. M. was .48 of an inch, making the total for September .75, or just 3-4 of an inch. There was .16 on the third, .02 on the twenty fifth and .55 on the thirtieth. While the figures are not available, it is believed this makes a low record for rainfall for a month. The fall for August was 3.42 inches and for July 5.32, and had it not been for these two months things would be much drier than they are. They say they are, or were before Wednesday, about as dry as they well can be.

BACK TO THE SALAMANDER STOVE.

The recent touch of winter, and perhaps the long job of installing the new toilet rooms, has opened the eyes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company to the necessity of being prepared for cold weather. Steam heat is planned for and much of the work has been done, but no heater is in yet and the stoves were out. To protect its right flank the company has had a new smokestack placed on the roof, and the salamander stoves will again go into commission. It is expected, of course, that the steam heat will eventually arrive.

COTTON—DVORAK.

The marriage of Mr. William Cotton of this city to Miss Georgia Dvorak took place Tuesday at the Church of the Transfiguration in New York. Mr. Cotton is the son of the late William H. Cotton and a well known painter. His bride is well known in Newport, having spent a portion of the summer here. She is a relative of Dvorak, the famous musical composer.

ESCAPE WITHOUT BOOTY.

Yeggmen Attempt to Blow the Safe in the Greystone Postoffice.

NORTH PROVIDENCE, Oct. 1.—The lives of 30 persons were endangered at 2 o'clock this morning when yeggmen tried to blow up the safe in the Greystone postoffice, in the western section of this town. The postoffice is located in the Whitehall building, in which several families have their homes. The report of the explosion shook the building and drove its occupants to the street in their night clothes. The outer door of the safe failed to give way, however, and the yeggmen, frightened by the cries of the women and children, made their escape without securing any booty.

THE USE FOR THE WAR TAX.

Not even a warning that the Democratic party in Congress would be split in two by pressing the bill to a vote avails to check the President's determination to secure a fleet of cargo steamers, though there are contradictory reports about his willingness to let the bill go over for this session. Some say he will be satisfied to have the bill passed at the next session, and other reports are that he will not let Congress adjourn until it has passed his bill. When this country was a republic Congress used to adjourn when it pleased, without obtaining leave of absence from the President.

The war tax bill is not going through the Senate as easily as it did through the House. The House is doing so much business under suspension of the rules that the unlimited debate in the Senate is becoming absolutely essential to preserve any semblance of popular government.

If Congress will kill the tax bill the merchant fleet bill will be dropped because there will be no money for it. On the other hand, if Congress will kill the merchant fleet bill, there will be no occasion for the war tax bill. It is too early to know absolutely, but there is no indication now that the government will need anything like $105,000,000 of additional revenue unless it buys and operates a fleet of cargo steamers. Of course it is likely to need some money, though nothing like that amount, but if it is going into the carrying trade it may need the supplemental revenue provided in the House bill.

The determination of the President to put the government into the carrying trade is the only explanation of his tenacity in insisting on a supplemental tax bill calculated to yield 37 per cent of the amount of last year's customs collections. He is anxious to immortalize himself as the Father of the American Merchant Marine, and he knows it will cost a lot of money. No other plausible explanation has been offered of his determination to put both these bills through. Congress begs and protests, but does not dream of asserting itself and doing as it pleases. It understands that it must obey.

"MOVIES" AS AN AID TO SCIENCE.

One of the important purposes for which moving pictures have been employed is for the exhibition of the life of animals and insects. In this way they have been made to assist science and those who are studying living creatures. At the Museum of Natural History in New York are films which show the growth and development of animal and insect life, and these are particularly valuable because it is difficult to accomplish this purpose with an ordinary camera. These show snakes, spiders and insects emerging from their eggs or cocoons, their growth through various stages and many other features of their life which are not only interesting but important in scientific study. Such moving pictures are not intended necessarily for public exhibition, though they may be devoted to that use also, but primarily are for those engaged in the study of forms of life which cannot be watched in their birth and development in any other way.

It is rather startling to see these films present on the screen insects of almost human size and crawling creatures so large on the canvas as to appear almost like the gigantic specimens of early ages found in fossil forms. There is a deep interest in them, even by those who are only curious, while to those eager to study these creatures the pictures are of incalculable value, presenting life under conditions which cannot deviate from the actual. Moving pictures have done much to instruct the public and have been brought into use in many ways unthought of when they first appeared, and now the scientists are finding them practically indispensable in the studies in which they are engaged. This is a wonderful age, and one of its most wonderful features is the development of the "movies" from mere amusement purposes to those of instruction in almost every department of education.

LETTING GO OF VERA CRUZ.

We are very much in the position in Mexico of the hunter who saved himself from a bear by catching hold of its tail. So long as he could hang on he was safe from the beast's jaws, but he could not hang on indefinitely; to let go meant to fall instantly into the fore paws of the animal, so he shouted lustily to his companions to help him let go.

Of course we are anxious to let go in Mexico. We have had better luck than we had any business to expect; so far we have kept out of war with the country, but we can hardly expect to remain in Vera Cruz indefinitely. Considering the situation at present, this is not exactly the moment to retire, as the English and Russian envoys to Mexico have said, to the great wrath of our administration.

General Zapata is reported to have expressed a wish that we should keep Funston and his brigade in the chief Mexican seaport, but Zapata is not a large factor in the situation and Carranza and Villa are. Happily for us, there is an abatement of signs of war between these two patriots. Villa says he will not be a candidate for president, and Carranza has given some assurance of the same sort—either that he will not be a candidate, or that he will leave his provisional presidency before the election. Mexico may have what it never had before, with the possible exception of the election of Madero, one not dominated by the troops of the official candidate.

If Carranza and Villa will efface themselves from this election, the choice of somebody else would be the greatest luck in the world for President Wilson, for it would afford him a chance of taking our troops out of the country. If they leave without any trouble we hope that for the future our government will not undertake to decide on the validity of any Mexican president's claim to his office. What would we have done, for example, if Great Britain had refused to recognize the title of Rutherford B. Hayes to the Presidency, had withdrawn its ambassador, massed its troops along the northern frontier and kept a squadron of battleships in our ports?

MORE HORSES NEEDED.

There is likely to be a big demand for horses in Europe as a result of the war. Not so many of these animals are used in actual operations now as formerly, since motor-driven vehicles are employed, but the need has developed in another direction because of the use of motors. To supply the demand for these vehicles many which were employed for transportation purposes in large cities, for either passengers or freight, have been seized by the governments and pressed into service in connection with the military operations. The result has been that as substitutes for these resort has been made to horse-drawn vehicles, for both passenger service and for the carrying of merchandise. It was probably never expected that the time would ever come again when horse busses would be used in large cities, but they are now being substituted for motors as a matter of necessity, since the latter vehicles have almost all been sent to the front for service with the armies.

It may be that there will be some difficulty in supplying this new and sudden demand for horses. It has been said that there are still as many in use as before motor vehicles were employed, but if that be the case it is evident that the supply can hardly be equal to the need now, when more are needed and motor vehicles also are required to their full number. It may be that this country will be called upon to help supply this new demand for horses, or that some persons here may see the opportunity to sell at good prices to the governments or business men of Europe, and in this way the United States will be affected by the war, as well as so many others not anticipated when the conflict began. The value of horses on this side of the ocean in such a case would of course be increased, and so there would be benefit to the owners.

HELPING PAY EXPENSES.

In Kansas City, Mo., last year the printing department of the vocational work of the high school saved the expenditure by the board of about $1,200. That is a practical application of the principles embodied in vocational work in the schools, and it is worth while to have a printing department if it can accomplish such results. It would be well indeed if in every place where vocational training is a part of the public school system that work were directed in such a way as to help defray the expenses and so make it to some extent at least self-supporting.

There is no reason why this should not be done. Kansas City has shown one way in which it can be brought about, and this is by no means the only one open by which the same end can be accomplished. Other trades and industrial activities can be used to contribute to the support of the department directing them, and every little help along this line will be welcome and will make the schools seem more valuable and vocational training particularly useful.

Though the prohibition of the sale of Vodka, the popular Russian drink, was only a war measure, it has worked so well that the Czar has determined to stop its use altogether. There has been, it is said, a tremendously improved condition of the country since the traffic was prohibited. Visitors returning from southern Russia say the country is already hardly recognizable. Peasants who, before the war, had fallen into hopeless indolence and depravity, already have emerged into self-respecting citizens. These people now save 50 per cent of their earnings, which formerly was spent for drink, and have increased their earning capacity through sobriety. There is, then, actually some good result from the war.

Abdul Aziz, the deposed Sultan of Morocco, adds his protest to others against the atrocities said to have been committed by the Germans in the present war. Criticism from such a source is specially notable, but the charge of general German atrocities has not yet been thoroughly authenticated.

Congress is eager for adjournment, and the people are with it, in this respect at least.

TO ENRICH ENGLAND.

Belgian Refugees Will Add New Element to Population of the British Isles.

[New York Tribune.]

The prospective exodus of Belgian refugees to England promises to add a new and permanent element to the population of the British Isles. For it is inconceivable that a large percentage of the million peasants and burghers for which the United Kingdom is making provision will not remain within her hospitable boundaries, whatever the outcome of the war. And it will not be the first time in history that Great Britain has offered her shores as a refuge to the persecuted and harassed of the turbulent continent and enriched her human stock thereby.

Indeed, since the Norman conquest this has been practically her only method of introducing new blood into her veins. The Dutch, who found her an asylum from Spanish tyranny; the French Huguenots, who fled to her after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes; the Jews, who flocked to her to escape the Spanish Inquisition, have all contributed not inconsiderably to the type we are pleased to call Anglo-Saxon. Now these thrifty, gentle and heroic Belgians will have an opportunity to pay in like manner for the generous hospitality of their British sympathizers and allies.

THE TOP O' THE YEAR.

October is the Clarion Call and the True Beginning of New Life.

[Mary Eleanor Roberts, in Lippincott's.]

The calendar tells us that the year begins on the first of January. Almost every one thinks that it begins in the spring. Neither is true. It begins in October. The spring delusion is an ancestral survival, like fear of the dark, or a tendency to stand with one's back to the wall. To our unfortunate forefathers, doomed to life imprisonment in the fogs of an ill-conditioned island, the return of the sun seemed the renewal of life. To any one who has lived through a British winter, the first snowdrop is an event, the first cowslip a blessing from the gods.

Not so to the more fortunate American. His winter sun has never ceased to smile. His frosty days of dazzling blue and white have shown him the celestial country. But his energy decreases with the first warm winds. Spring is a time of running down, not of winding up. It is a season of sentimentality, of lassitude, of slackening of mental fibre, over-rated, overpraised.

The youth of the year is in October. All colleges and universities are obliged to conform to this rhythmic law. They muster their cohorts under the banner of autumn. All charitable societies have found it necessary to adjust their calendars to this beat of the human pulse. "Our year begins in October," say their announcements. Truly it does so. So does the year of the heart, the year of the mind, the year of all eager energies. These days are a goblet full of the wine of life. We stand upon the great divide, and our kingdom lies below us. Let us march down and take possession. October is the clarion call, the reveille, the true beginning, the top o' the year.

SURPRISE OF THE WAR.

New Siege Guns of the Germans Spell the Doom of All Fortresses.

[Berlin Despatch.]

It is still too early to attempt to base general predictions concerning war in the future upon what the engagements of the present great war have shown. One prediction, however, does seem fairly justified already. That is that the day of fortresses has passed.

The new 42-centimetre (16.8-inch) siege gun of the German forces appears to have demonstrated its ability to demolish the strongest fortifications ever made. Pictures of the demolition at Liege bear striking testimony to the power of this new arm. A single projectile demolished utterly walls of re-inforced cement and steel, ripped open steel towers and piled the mass upon the fort's defenders.

This new siege gun has been the surprise of the war. It has been repeatedly asserted that no nation has any military secrets that are not in the possession of all other important nations, but events have proved not only that the existence of this terrible weapon was not known to foreign nations, but that only a limited number of high army officials in all Germany had so much as heard of it. A member of the Reichstag, whose name is not given, is quoted as follows in a German paper:

"The fact that the German army possessed such a gun was as much of a surprise to the Germans as to foreigners, for its construction and nature were kept secret, as the situation demanded, so that even in the empire only a limited number knew about it. When the trials were finished and all was ready to begin the construction of the new gun, the problem presented itself of making this wonderful work of war without attracting any attention.

"More than 40 officers participated in the preliminary discussion over the preparation of the military budget for the consideration of the budget commission of the Reichstag. When the subject of 'arms' was reached the head of this department requested that this part of the budget be not debated at that time.

"At the close of the session he told me confidentially that a new siege gun was in consideration. The general staff, he said, had urgently requested that not a word be said about the matter in the budget commission. Not even the officers, they declared, knew of what was being done.

"The request of the general staff was observed. Then work on the new gun began. A number of them are already at the front and others are in the arsenals. Six weeks ago, as member of the commission on arms, I was in a gun factory, and was informed that any number of tubes and projectiles for the guns can be finished in a very brief time, not to mention the great supply on hand.

"I asked whether these guns wore themselves out quickly, and was assured by an expert that there are not enough forts in the world to wear out a single gun."

AMERICA SENT TO ENGLAND.

Lieutenant Porte's Airship Believed to be Destined for War Service.

The mammoth aeroplane America, with which Lieut. Porte had expected to fly across the Atlantic, was shipped to England Wednesday on steamer Mauretania, and it is said will be used by the British government for war service. The America is said to be the world's most powerful aeroplane. Lieutenant John C. Porte, who expected to make the trip across the Atlantic in the America, is an officer in the British navy and soon after war was declared returned to England.

The American and two other aeroplanes manufactured by a company having a plant in Hammondsport, N. Y., were taken to New York on a special train 20 hours before the Mauretania sailed. The two other aeroplanes were placed in the same hold with the America and were consigned to the same person. It was further learned that the machines were "knocked down" in the factory at Hammondsport and taken from there to the railroad at Bath, N. Y., in several high-powered automobiles. At Bath they were hastily loaded on a special train ordered for the purpose. Upon their arrival in New York the America and the two other machines were loaded on lighters and taken on the Mauretania. All was done under the cover of the darkness.

It is understood that the America has been purchased by a private individual and will be turned over to the British government upon its arrival in Liverpool. It was further reported that several other aeroplanes of the same type as the America have been ordered by the America's purchased, and that these, too, will be presented to the British government.

PLENTY OF BEEF.

Eight Million Head of Cattle in Texas Waiting to be Slaughtered.

The long looked for solution of the beef problem seems near. According to Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures and secretary of the New York mayor's committee on food supply, there are 8,000,000 head of cattle awaiting to be slaughtered in Texas in what is known as the black prairie lands. The cattle are owned by men not in any way connected with the trust, which is said to control beef prices. The owners of the 8,000,000 head are organizing to provide for the receiving, distribution and sale of their beef in New York city. That they will act independently is assured, since the present beef interests are far from being popular in the black prairie lands. Commissioner Hartigan says:

"In the gulf coast country there has been a development during the last 10 years toward the building up of a cattle industry. The development has come about through the combined efforts of the state of Texas and the farmers and ranchers. This has resulted in the raising and gathering of the 8,000,000 head of cattle.

"Because of stringent supervision by state authorities, protection is extended to independent dealers. Free access is permitted to the markets and such assistance given in herding, feeding and shipping that any monopoly is impracticable. With the establishment of a line of refrigerator ships, beef can be brought to New York city in less than two weeks.

"It is asserted by authorities that Texas beef of the present day is superior in every way to South American beef. Beef brought from Argentina to New York takes about two months in transit."

LET CHILDREN WRITE.

Desks and Materials Lead to Cultivation of Use of Pen and Ink.

[Mothers' Magazine.]

Perhaps many a poor penman would have written a more creditable hand if in childhood he had had a desk of his own, in a suitable place, provided with materials for writing at such times as he chose. It would have seemed an art more worth cultivating under the condition than when he had to write on his knees or on a littered table.

Every child's room should have a private desk or table where he may write. Here he should have a stock of pens, penholders, pencils, pads and writing paper, and he should be trained to use these materials frequently. Such a bit of property helps him to cultivate neatness and order. If he evidences slovenliness at first, the mother should urge him to orderliness, and inspect his desk until he has attained neatness. It should be impressed upon him that this is part of his training, that as a man he will always need to keep his papers in place and in order, and that if he is to be in the employ of others it will be to his advantage to have formed good habits in such matters.

The child will take pride in possession of his own desk and pens, and this will lead him to the cultivation of the use of pen and ink.

FRENCH TROOPS COURAGEOUS.

Their Fighting Around Peronne Cause for Great Admiration.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Amiens, under date of Sunday, in describig the heavy fighting around Peronne, which has been taken and re-taken at various times, says it is impossible to hear of the courage of the French troops without a thrill of admiration.

"At 11 o'clock one morning," he says, "the French advance was subjected to a terrible concentrated fire and it seemed impossible for the troops to hold their ground. The French artillery had to abandon position after position. At 2 o'clock the shells began to fall around the cross-roads, where the staff were located, and the general in command was urged to quit. 'No,' he said,' so long as I stay here we cannot retreat and we have simply got to hold on.'

"He said the same thing when three farms close by were in flames. He said it and meant it, and he saved the day. At 3 o'clock he was still there and his men held their own. At 4 o'clock the German fire slackened a little and an infantry attack was pushed forward. That evening the French guns were occupying the positions which the German guns had held all day. The general had held on."

RECENT FIGHTING SANGUINARY.

Polish Peasants' Bitter Feeling Against the Germans Increases.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Petrograd, telegraphing regarding the operations in Russian Poland, near the east Prussian border, says: "The triangle formed by joining Stshutshin, Augustow and Ossowetz is little more than a vast swamp, making military operations difficult, even in the best weather. Rain has been falling heavily for the past two days, but the Russians, nevertheless, are pushing on determinedly. The recent fighting has been sanguinary, two German divisions having been destroyed in the battle of Druskeniki. In the west of Russian Poland the brushes between the advance guards continue.

"The Polish peasants are extremely bitter against the Germans and this feeling has been increased by the contact with German humor. As an instance, the Germans everywhere pretended to pay for supplies with documents written in German, which the peasants do not understand. When translated the peasants found that these papers had inscribed thereon that 'Whoever presents this at the end of the war will be hanged.'

"There probably has been sniping by the civilian population, as the bodies of six peasants were found hanging to a tree in a Polish town a few days ago. Their fellow townsmen vowed to have revenge, and two days later a German scouting party found the bodies of 22 German soldiers hanging from the same tree.

"A letter received here from a Russian officer who is camping on the estate of Emperor William at Rominten, East Prussia, says: 'William's estate is magnificently equipped and we have everything at our disposal which we could wish. We are enjoying particularly delicious dinners prepared by his fine cooks. His parks swarm with rare animals and birds. We are teaching his parrots the Russian language and they are learning to address their imperial master with compliments I should blush to repeat in company.' "

—Mrs. Herbert Parsons, who has been spending a portion of the summer with her father, Mr. Henry Clews, at "The Rocks," left Wednesday for Lenox.

—T. J. O'Neill has sold for Francis Mercier the property known as Lee's wharf, consisting of dwellings, stables, office and coal sheds, and land extending to the harbor line, to Jeremiah P. Sullivan.

—Lieutenant Commander William L. Littlefield has been detached from the command of the Henley and the Third division of the torpedo flotilla and ordered to the Georgia as executive officer.

—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish will give her annual costume harvest dance at "Glenclyffe," her house at Garrison, N. Y., Saturday, October 10, and entertain a large party of friends over Sunday. There will be additional guests at the dance, from neighboring houses.

—Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont has sent a check for $1,000 to her daughter, the Duchess of Marlborough, who is in England, for the benefit of the families of the Belgian refugees. Mrs. Belmont has closed "Marble House," but will remain until Monday, when she will return to New York for the winter.

—Mrs. James W. Algeo was re-elected chairman of the Woman Suffrage party of Rhode Island Wednesday evening, at the first annual meeting of the members. The other officers re-elected were: Secretary, Miss Nettie E. Bauer; treasurer, Mrs. George W. Parks; chairman of legislative committee, Mrs. Barton P. Jenks.

—Mr. and Mrs Daniel Bishop entertained about 35 guests, several of whom came from Boston and Reading, Pa., at their home on Third street Wednesday evening, in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. A dinner was served later at Cassim's restaurant. Mr and Mrs Bishop received many silver gifts in recognition of the anniversary.

—At the largest Republican caucus in the political history of North Kingstown, held at Wickford Wednesday evening, a resolution was unanimously adopted endorsing the candidacy of Senator R. Livingston Beeckman of this city for the Republican nomination for governor. The delegates to the state and Congressional conventions were instructed to vote for Beeckman for governor and General Walter R. Stiness for Representative in Congress from the Second district.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR LEGISLATION

Democrats Put Through Their Measures Despite Republican Protests.

Methods Have Small Effect on Politics —How Butler Keeps a Quorum in the House.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Republicans for the Fifty-first Congress established several important precedents, the most important of which were the counting of a quorum, the special gag rule and the elimination of the dilatory motion. Thomas B. Reed was responsible for these innovations, though he was ably assisted by William McKinley, Joseph G. Cannon, David B. Henderson and Julius C. Burrows and other Republicans of that time.

The Democrats have improved upon the methods adopted by the Republicans by using the "special order" to more purpose. They have made it serve them right faithfully in putting through party measures. They use it for every possible occasion. They tie up the House and let the Republicans rage or talk, and when the time comes they put through their measures.

The Republicans protest, of course, but what good does that do? In fact, the country has long come to the conclusion that the party in power should be responsible for legislation in its own way. The people do not care as much how the laws are made as they do about the kind of laws that are made or which have not been made.

A great deal of the criticism of the Republicans when they were in power was because certain legislation was not enacted as well as objection to that which was enacted. But the strong fact remains that methods cut but little figure in the effect upon politics.

"I am glad to see such a large attendance in the Senate," remarked Senator Kenyon. "Usually there are not more than seven Senators, and now I observe there are 10 present. There are times when arguments in this chamber had to be made simply to the desks, which were screwed to the floor and could not get out.

During the hearing on the Levy bill, which was generally opposed by publishers and authors, a modest appearing individual was present and began to talk.

"Who are you and whom do you represent?" inquired Chairman Oldfield.

"I am secretary of the authors' league."

"What is the authors' league?" snapped a member of the committee who favored the bill.

"It is composed of 750 authors in this country," was the reply. "Winston Churchill is president and Theodore Roosevelt is vice president."

"That establishes it," interrupted Congressman Metz of New York.

"We've heard of them."

There was a discussion in the House as to whether a quorum could be obtained. "It is perfectly easy to get members here," said Butler of Pennsylvania. "I have done it several times. All you have to do is to have a little nerve and make them come in and receive their $20.45 per day."

"I have been here 18 months," remarked Garrett of Texas. "I will bet anything there is a quorum of members in town. I make the point of no quorum."

And the roll call showed the fact that 164 were not on the job.

When the Ohio Senator was speaking long and learnedly upon the river and harbor bill he mentioned many places, passing from one to another, finally touching upon streams in New Jersey, which brought Martine to the floor, and the statement was made that something about a stream gave it a distinguishing flavor. Then Burton said something about the Bronx.

"There is a distinguishing flavor to the Bronx," remarked Martine.

Burton continued the discussion, but it was plain to be seen that he had in mind a different kind of Bronx from that of the New Jersey Senator.

"Was not the Senator speaking of the Bronx cocktail?" asked Ollie James, who comes from Kentucky.

"That association was entirely unknown until you mentioned it," replied Burton.

"The Ohio Senator's education has been seriously neglected," was Martine's comment.

Criticising the mounting expenses of the government, Senator Borah called attention to the many offices which had been created in recent years.

"I would like to know," asked Senator Lane of Oregon, "if the Idaho Senator dares to make the assertion that there have been enough new offices created to go round?"

Borah acknowledged that he thought it impossible to create enough offices to satisfy the present demand.

"One of the Senators opposing the river and harbor bill," said J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania, "made a strange admission the other day while making his filibustering speech. He said, 'I believe there are Senators here as honest as I am.' I mentioned this to members of his delegation in the House, and they said that it was a strange admission for that particular Senator to make."

"The rules of the Senate should be enforced," vociferated Senator Stone of Missouri, and everybody smiled. The rules of the Senate are of such a peculiar character that to enforce them literally would probably prevent the Senate from doing business. Once Senator Jones of Washington was dispossed and sat still and demanded the enforcement of the rules on everything. He had Senators begging him to let up in order that business could be transacted. The Senate rules are a joke.

GIRLS DRESS TOO SCANTILY.

English High School in Lynn Closes Because of Cold Weather.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 1.—The English High school has been closed, because according to Superintendent of Schools Frank J. Parsley, the girls came to school half-dressed and requiring them to remain in school would be conducive to serious colds. The superintendent added that "if high school girls would dress as they should instead of following foolish fashions, it would not be necessary to close the school buildings because of the cold weather."

ATTACKS REPULSED.

German Official Statement Reports Progress in Argonne.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—An official statement, issued from German general headquarters under date of the evening of September 30, is given in a despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Berlin, via Amsterdam. It says:

"The hostile forces advancing to the north and south of Albert (a town of France 18 miles northeast of Amiens) have been repulsed. The front battle line is without news.

"In Argonne our attack is progressing steadily, though slowly. At the outer forts on the Meuse the line is without change.

"Yesterday the enemy advanced in Alsace and Lorraine, in the central Vosges. His attacks were energetically repulsed. The eastern theatre is without news."

ANTWERP SUFFERS LITTLE.

German Bombardment Fails to Produce Commensurate Results.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—An official communication, issued at Antwerp, according to a despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company, says: "The German artillery during the day continued the bombardment of the first line of forts on the south. Our works suffered little and we are still in condition to make effective resistance.

"Between the Senne river and Reeth no movement of the enemy's infantry has occurred. In the circles from the Scheldt to the Senne during and violent German attacks have been repelled by the Belgians, who were well supported by their artillery. The German losses were proportionate to the temerity of their attacks.

"In the direction of Termonde the offensive movement was of no great import, consisting of a long-distance cannonade, which had no appreciable effect on the detachments of our troops guarding the approaches to the town. Between the rivers Bendre and Scheldt there is no notable change.

"In short, the German bombardment has produced no results commensurate with its violence. The morale of our troops remains excellent and their coolness is admirable, as proved by the successful resistance of all German infantry attacks."

ON THE DEATH ROLL.

Jeremiah O'Connor, Well Known Gardener, and Mrs. Philip F. Harrington.

Mr. Jeremiah O'Connor, one of the oldest gardeners in Newport, died at his home on Chapel street Wednesday, after a long illness. For many years, and until old age incapacitated him for work, he was gardener on the Edgar place on Old Beach road, and he was one of the best known Irishmen in Newport. Though of a quiet disposition, he was interested in affairs and was liked by all who knew him, and in those years that meant all of the parishioners of St. Mary's parish. He was one of the oldest, if not the oldest, member of the Father Mathew Society, which will turn out for his funeral. He leaves one daughter and three sons —Timothy J., John F. J. and Stephen A. O'Connor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Agnes, wife of Letter Carrier Philip F. Harrington, died early this morning at her home on Spring street, after a lingering illness. She was a woman of fine personality and had many friends in the community. She is survived by her husband and three children—Mrs. Cornelius W. R. Callahan, Mrs. John F. Sullivan and John J. Harrington, the son being employed at the Torpedo Station.

KILLED IN ACTION.

Three of the Newport Frenchmen Who Went to the War.

According to a letter received here by one of the French chefs, three of the Newport Frenchmen who went to the war have been killed in action. They are Mr. Paulus, who kept a store on Franklin street and turned it over to the auctioneer and left for the front, his goods having only recently been disposed of; Mr. Mercier, who was a cook for Senator Wetmore, and Mr. Andree, who has been employed here in former years and was here this season when hostilities broke out.

JAMESTOWN.

Late Trips of Ferry Service Discontinued—Mrs. L. W. Anthony Surprised.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The two late trips of the ferry service to Newport have been discontinued, the last now leaving that city at 9:10. If the travel warrants, this will be run throughout the winter. The ferry automobile bus has been taken off and horse stages will make the connections with the West Bay boat during the winter.

Mrs. L. W. Anthony was given a genuine surprise party by the members of the P. H. Society Wednesday, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth. The evening was spent at Dutch whist, Mrs. G. L. Barber and Mrs. J. Smith winning the prizes. Mrs. Anthony was the recipient of a number of handsome and useful presents. Refreshments were served.

A number of candidates are mentioned for the nomination for representative at the November election, and although undoubtedly many will withdraw a contest for both senator and representative seems assured.

Mr. E. O. Shakespeare and family, who have occupied the Knowles cottage on Conanicus avenue during the past season, have left for their home in Philadelphia.

Mr. J. T. Jeffries and family, who have occupied the Rhett cottage during the summer, have left for Philadelphia.

Mr. Howard Benoist has closed his cottage on the south shore and left with his family for their winter home in St. Louis.

Mr. J. E. Watson celebrated the anniversary of his birth Wednesday evening by a small gathering at his home on Narragansett avenue.

Mr. A. P. Baugh and family, who have occupied the Elmer cottage on the Dumplings have returned to Wynnewood, Pa.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The goods and chattels of the Russian embassy are on the move today to the cars, en route to Washington.

—Dr. and Mrs. Darrah have gone on a short vacation trip, which will include a visit to the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

—Again today, as so often in the past, the police failed to do anything to help the news gatherer. Neither arrest, prosecution, complaint nor kick was reported.

—Mr. Peter Knig, Jr., of this year's graduating class at the Rogers High School, has entered the senior class at Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass., and will next year go to Harvard.

—This is a different day, so far as weather is concerned, from Wednesday. Everybody spoke of the fine morning, and it continued to be fine. It is not summer, though the thermometer went up to 120 in the sun; it is autumn, and fine weather.

—The Intrepid, Mr. Lloyd Phoenix, went up the bay today, and steam yacht Nirvana, ex-Senator Aldrich, came down, but the active yachting season of 1914 is over. Superintendent Whitten has put the New York Yacht Club house out of commission. It is not all over, but very nearly so.

—Steamer Commonwealth will go out of commission Sunday and be laid up at the repair shops for her winter overhauling. The Providence, which has been overhauled at the repair shops since the close of the Providence line, will take her place. Later the Plymouth will relieve the Priscilla.

—Friday, when Auctioneer F. W. Greene has his annual fall horse show and sale, will be the cleaning-up time for all sorts of horse effects, from horses to carriages, wagons and harness. These sales in years gone by have been big affairs, but there are more automobiles now. They last all day and bring buyers from all around.

—The committee on fire department will meet Friday evening.

—Wednesday evening the committee on new schoolhouse met with Superintendent Lull and Architect Weaver, and talked over the tentative plans for the new Clark building. The architect had made sketches to aid the members in understanding the situation.

—From the Training Station comes a report of lightning Wednesday morning during the storm. The men in the power station thought something had happened but were not sure until they left work, when they saw that the big stack had been the target for lightning. No special damage was done, except the displacing of a few bricks and a hole in the ground.

TORPEDO WENT TO THE BOTTOM.

Left the Tube All Right But Failed to Make Its Run.

Important Test of Missile With Warhead Attached Without Definite Results.

There was an important naval test at Coddington cove this morning, but without definite results, as they say regarding actions in the European theatre of war. It was the firing for the second time in Narragansett bay of an automobile torpedo with warhead attached, the previous event of this kind being about 20 years ago, when the late Rear Admiral George A. Converse was inspector in charge at the station. Two of the present staff of the Daily News were present at the firing of that first test.

This morning one of the later build of torpedoes, valued at $1,000, was hooked to be used for the purpose of trying a new explosive for the warhead and a new device for penetrating protective nets. The lack of definite result was due to the failure of the torpedo to make its run, and so the experts have not yet had their faith shaken in the belief that they have something which will make the present nets of foreign navies unavailing against a torpedo attack from the American navy.

Commander Robison of the Torpedo Station, with a full corps of officers and experts as observers, went to the cove just before 11 o'clock, in the Morris and other craft from the Station. Daily News representatives were also there. A float had been arranged off the east shore and from this was suspended the torpedo net which was to be the target. The Morris manoeuvred around, after the observing craft had been carefully located where they could flee if the torpedo showed a tendency to run wild.

At 11:06, the Morris having made a short run straight out from the target and come to a stop, the trigger was pulled which 'explodes the small expelling charge in the torpedo tube. The brilliantly polished and huge missile popped out of the tube and landed in the water with a splash. So far all was regular and the Morris sped away in the opposite direction, but the usual commotion was not observed on the surface; neither did the torpedo broach, and apparently it went straight to the bottom.

It is not unknown for the engines in torpedoes to fail to start when they leave the tube, and unless they run the torpedo does not proceed on its mission. The result in this case is that, instead of a harmless missile with a practice head to be searched for, there now lies on the bottom of the cove one with a warhead, containing a charge of such high explosive that it is believed to be capable of tearing the biggest battleship asunder.

Up to 3 o'clock the torpedo had not been located. It ran about 60 feet and then sank, as nearly as could be judged from the observation boats. Because of the danger of such an object in an unknown location, guard boats have been detailed to keep all craft away.

The suggestion that the United States navy is striving to secure something which will make foreign ships easy victims does not mean that this country is likely to engage in the present European troubles, but shows that the navy is alive to the demands of the times and trying to be prepared for eventualities. The recent sinking of three British cruisers by torpedoes from a submarine has naturally caused naval men to view the possibilities, and it is to be believed that craft which have not heretofore been provided with nets are now being equipped. Hence the resumption of experiments at the Torpedo Station to find a way to make the net a thing of little or no value is an undertaking of great importance.

CAN PLAY BASE BALL.

Montana Team Should Give the Trojans a Stiff Argument Sunday.

The Montana base ball team has received much favorable mention by reason of its good playing and should give the Trojans a stiff argument Sunday. In Bennett and Cooper it has two clever twirlers and the Trojans will find it hard to make headway against either. Bennett held the Newports to three hits in each of the games he pitched, and Cooper is said to be better. Wiggins, the catcher, is a clever all-round ball player and can hit. The other stars are Argue, first baseman; Whitmore, left field, and Moser, short stop. By winning 12 games in a row the sailor team has made a showing which makes it plain that they can play base ball.

AT THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

When the Democrats hold the first of their two sets of caucuses for the state election, Friday evening, several things are to be done. A member of the state central committee is to be elected, delegates are to be chosen to a and Congressional Conventions and also committee, and delegates to the state an ongressional onventions and also for a city convention which will nominate a candidate for senator. Everything but the nomination of candidates for the General Assembly will thus be done as a result of this caucus. The other, to be held later, will be district caucuses.

High-Water Mark on Third Street Reached, Vaughan Avenue Commenced.

The high-water mark has been reached in the Third Street improvement. Stone is now being carted to Vaughan avenue and Monday, if things go as they promise, Street Commissioner Hamilton will be able to take one of the rollers off Third street and put it on Vaughan avenue. It has been a steady draw for stone, large quantities and long haul, but the stone has been furnished as fast as needed and the street commissioner agrees that the crusher which Mr. Dugan secured for this work was fully able to do it, without causing any delay. It is the greatest crusher which ever worked here. Perhaps others could have done as much work, but they never did.

Incidentally, the ledge, where for so many years stone has been taken out, has disappeared under the great demand for this year, but there is still plenty of stone in the vicinity.

LOW RECORD FOR RAINFALL

Three Quarters of an Inch the Total for September.

The rainfall Wednesday after 6 A. M. was .48 of an inch, making the total for September .73, or just 3-4 of an inch. There was .16 on the third, .02 on the twenty fifth and .55 on the thirtieth. While the figures are not available, it is believed this makes a low record for rainfall for a month. The fall for August was 3.42 inches and for July 5.32, and had it not been for these two months things would be much drier than they are. They say they are, or were before Wednesday, about as dry as they well can be.

BACK TO THE SALAMANDER STOVE.

The recent touch of winter, and perhaps the long job of installing the new toilet rooms, has opened the eyes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company to the necessity of being prepared for cold weather. Steam heat is planned for and much of the work has been done, but no heater is in yet and the stoves were out. To protect its right flank the company has had a now smokestack placed on the roof, and the salamander stoves will again go into commission. It is expected, of course, that the steam heat will eventually arrive.

COTTON—DVORAK.

The marriage of Mr. William Cotton of this city to Miss Georgia Dvorak took place Tuesday at the Church of the Transfiguration in New York. Mr. Cotton is the son of the late William H. Cotton and a well known painter. His bride is well known in Newport, having spent a portion of the summer here. She is a relative of Dvorak, the famous musical composer.

ESCAPE WITHOUT BOOTY.

Yeggmen Attempt to Blow the Safe in the Greystone Postoffice.

NORTH PROVIDENCE, Oct. 1.—The lives of 30 persons were endangered at 2 o'clock this morning when yeggmen tried to blow up the safe in the Greystone postoffice, in the western section of this town. The postoffice is located in the Whitehall building, in which several families have their homes. The report of the explosion shook the building and drove its occupants to the street in their night clothes. The outer door of the safe failed to give way, however, and the yeggmen, frightened by the cries of the women and children, made their escape without securing any booty.

WILSON OPENS LETTER WRITING CAMPAIGN

Shively of Indiana and Chamberlain of Oregon Endorsed.

Maintenance of Democratic Majority in Senate of Utmost Importance.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President Wilson today opened his letter-writing campaign for the election of Democratic Senators and representatives. He wrote letters endorsing Senator Shively of Indiana and Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. Others will be written in the near future.

In his letter to Senator Owen, endorsing Senator Chamberlain, the President declared that "the maintenance of the Democratic majority in the Senate is of the utmost importance to the country if the present policies and program of the government are to be sustained and continued, and I take it for granted that voters everywhere will feel the force of that motive."

The letter endorsing Senator Shively was addressed to Majority Leader Kern of the Senate and was as follows:

"I am genuinely surprised that any question should have arisen as to whether I want Senator Shively returned. I do most decidedly wish it. I have admired Senator Shively's steadfast devotion to duty and to the standards of the party and his unfaltering loyalty in all matters of public policy, and all his party associates and I have learned to have a very warm personal feeling and admiration for him. It would, in my judgment be a very great loss to the party and to the Senate if he should not be re-elected. I trust that there is no doubt of his re-election.

"The members of the House have stood by the administration with unfailing generosity and have made me feel a very deep interest in the political fortunes of every one of them. I need not tell you, my dear Senator, what my sentiments are towards yourself."

The Democrats are greatly elated over prospects of receiving the support of the administration for re-election in November. Not only will the Democratic nominees have the support of President Wilson, but also that of his cabinet.

While the President's activities in the coming campaign will be devoted entirely to writing letters, in which he will point out how candidates for re-election have supported his administration during the present Congress, a member of the cabinet will take the stump.

Secretary Bryan today announced that he will speak during the campaign not only in Ohio but also in Indiana and Nebraska. He said he had not considered Illinois, but added that he probably would speak in accordance with the wishes of the Democratic Congressional committee.

To a request by Senator Pomerene that he speak in Ohio, President Wilson today reiterated his determination not to go on the stump. He told the Senator he felt he must remain actively at the head of the government in Washington.

Secretary Daniels will begin speaking in Connecticut and New Hampshire and will speak in such other states as the Congressional campaign committee may designate. His first speech will be delivered the week of October 12, but the place has not been selected.

WILLIAMS' AMENDMENTS

Tax on Automobiles Substituted for Duty on Gasoline.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Democrats of the Senate sub-committee on finance voted today to substitute for the tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline in the war reenue bill a tax on owners of 25 cents per horse-power on automobiles and one dollar per horse-power on automobiles sold by dealers. An owner of a 30 horse-power car would pay a tax of $7.50, and a manufacturer selling such a machine would pay $30.

Senator Williams introduced amendments to tax employes, except the President Supreme Court justices and Congressmen, one half of one per cent of their salaries, and to estimate the tax on casualty, damage and accident insurance. Another amendment would tax retail liquor dealers from $25 to $300 a year, according to the volume of their business.

FRENCH TROOPS COURAGEOUS.

Their Fighting Around Peronne Cause for Great Admiration.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Amiens, under date of Sunday, in describing the heavy fighting around Peronne, which has been taken and re-taken at various times, says it is impossible to hear of the courage of the French troops without a thrill of admiration.

"At 11 o'clock one morning," he says, "the French advance was subjected to a terrible concentrated fire and it seemed impossible for the troops to hold their ground. The French artillery had to abandon position after position. At 2 o'clock the shells began to fall around the cross-roads, where the staff were located, and the general in command was urged to quit. 'No,' he said, 'so long as I stay here we cannot retreat and we have simply got to hold on.'

"He said the same thing when three farms close by were in flames. He said it and meant it, and he saved the day. At 3 o'clock he was still there and his men held their own. At 4 o'clock the German fire slackened a little and an infantry attack was pushed forward. That evening the French guns were occupying the positions which the German guns had held all day. The general had held on."

RECENT FIGHTING SANGUINARY.

Polish Peasants' Bitter Feeling Against the Germans Increases.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Petrograd, telegraphing regarding the operations in Russian Poland, near the east Prussian border, says: "The triangle formed by joining Stshutshin, Augustow and Ossowetz is little more than a vast swamp, making military operations difficult, even in the best weather. Rain has been falling heavily for the past two days, but the Russians, nevertheless, are pushing on determinedly. The recent fighting has been sanguinary, two German divisions having been destroyed in the battle of Druskeniki, in the west of Russian Poland, the brushes between the advance guards continue.

"The Polish peasants are extremely bitter against the Germans and this feeling has been increased by the contact with German humor. As an instance, the Germans everywhere pretended to pay for supplies with documents written in German, which the peasants do not understand. When translated the peasants found that these papers had inscribed thereon that 'Whoever presents this at the end of the war will be hanged.'

"There probably has been sniping by the civilian population, as the bodies of six peasants were found hanging to a tree in a Polish town a few days ago. Their fellow townsmen vowed to have revenge, and two days later a German scouting party found the bodies of 32 German soldiers hanging from the same tree.

"A letter received here from a Russian officer who is camping on the estate of Emperor William at Rominten, East Prussia, says: 'William's estate is magnificently equipped and we have everything at our disposal which we could wish. We are enjoying particularly delicious dinners prepared by his fine cooks. His parks swarm with rare animals and birds. We are teaching his parrots the Russian language and they are learning to address their imperial master with compliments I should blush to repeat in company.'"

RESPONSIBILITY FOR LEGISLATION

Democrats Put Through Their Measures Despite Republican Protests.

Methods Have Small Effect on Politics —How Butler Keeps a Quorum in the House.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The Republicans for the Fifty-first Congress established several important precedents, the most important of which were the counting of a quorum, the special gag rule and the elimination of the dilatory motion. Thomas B. Reed was responsible for these innovations, though he was ably assisted by William McKinley, Joseph G. Cannon, David B. Henderson and Julius C. Burrows and other Republicans of that time.

The Democrats have improved upon the methods adopted by the Republicans by using the "special order" to more purpose. They have made it serve them right faithfully in putting through party measures. They use it for every possible occasion. They tie up the House and let the Republicans rage or talk, and when the time comes they put through their measures.

The Republicans protest, of course, but what good does that do? In fact, the country has long come to the conclusion that the party in power should be responsible for legislation in its own way. The people do not care as much how the laws are made as they do about the kind of laws that are made or which have not been made.

A great deal of the criticism of the Republicans when they were in power was because certain legislation was not enacted as well as objection to that which was enacted. But the strong fact remains that methods cut but little figure in the effect upon politics.

"I am glad to see such a large attendance in the Senate," remarked Senator Kenyon. "Usually there are not more than seven Senators, and now I observe there are 10 present. There are times when arguments in this chamber had to be made simply to the desks, which were screwed to the floor and could not get out.

During the hearing on the Levy bill, which was generally opposed by publishers and authors, a modest appearing individual was present and began to talk.

"Who are you and whom do you represent?" inquired Chairman Oldfield.

"I am secretary of the authors' league."

"What is the authors' league?" snapped a member of the committee who favored the bill.

"It is composed of 750 authors in this country," was the reply. "Winston Churchill is president and Theodore Roosevelt is vice president."

"That establishes it," interrupted Congressman Metz of New York.

"We've heard of them."

There was a discussion in the House as to whether a quorum could be obtained. "It is perfectly easy to get members here," said Butler of Pennsylvania. "I have done it several times. All you have to do is to have a little nerve and make them come in and receive their $20.15 per day." "I have been here 18 months," remarked Garrett of Texas. "I will send there is every man, member in town. I make the point of no quorum."

And the roll call showed the fact that 164 were not on the job.

When the Ohio Senator was speaking long and learnedly upon the river and harbor bill he mentioned many places, passing from one to another, finally touching upon streams in New Jersey, which brought Martine to the floor, and the statement was made that something about a stream gave it a distinguishing flavor. Then Burton said something about the Bronx.

"There is a distinguishing flavor to the Bronx," remarked Martine.

Burton continued the discussion, but it was plain to be seen that he had in mind a different kind of Bronx from that of the New Jersey Senator.

"Was not the Senator speaking of the Bronx cocktail?" asked Ollie James, who comes from Kentucky.

"That association was entirely unknown until you mentioned it," replied Burton.

"The Ohio Senator's education has been seriously neglected," was Martine's comment.

Criticising the mounting expenses of the government, Senator Borah called attention to the many offices which had been created in recent years.

"I would like to know," asked Senator Lane of Oregon, "if the Idaho Senator dares to make the assertion that there have been enough new offices created to go round?"

Borah acknowledged that he thought it impossible to create enough offices to satisfy the present demand.

"One of the Senators opposing the river and harbor bill," said J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania, "made a strange admission the other day while making his filibustering speech. He said, 'I believe there are Senators here as honest as I am.' I mentioned this to members of his delegation in the House, and they said that it was a strange admission for that particular Senator to make."

"The rules of the Senate should be enforced," vociferated Senator Stone of Missouri, and everybody smiled. The rules of the Senate are of such a peculiar character that to enforce them literally would probably prevent the Senate from doing business. Once Senator Jones of Washington was displeased and sat still and demanded the enforcement of the rules on everything. He had Senators begging him to let up in order that business could be transacted. The Senate rules are a joke.

GIRLS DRESS TOO SCANTILY.

English High School in Lynn Closes Because of Cold Weather.

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 1.—The English High school has been closed, because, according to Superintendent of Schools Frank J. Pemslee, "the girls came to school half-dressed and requiring them to remain in school would be conducive to severe colds." The superintendent added that "if high school girls would dress as they should instead of following foolish fashions, it would not be necessary to close the school buildings because of the cold weather."

ATTACKS REPULSED.

German Official Statement Reports Progress in Argonne.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—An official statement, issued from German general headquarters under date of the evening of September 30, is given in a despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Berlin, via Amsterdam. It says:

"The hostile forces advancing to the north and south of Albert (a town of France 18 miles northeast of Amiens) have been repulsed. The front battle line is without news.

"In Argonne our attack is progressing steadily, though slowly. At the outer forts on the Meuse the line is without change.

"Yesterday the enemy advanced in Alsace and Lorraine, in the central Vosges. His attacks were energetically repulsed. The eastern theatre is without news."

ANTWERP SUFFERS LITTLE.

German Bombardment Fails to Produce Commensurate Results.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—An official communication, issued at Antwerp, according to a despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company, says: "The German artillery during the day continued the bombardment of the first line of forts on the south. Our works suffered little and we are still in condition to make effective resistance.

"Between the Senne river and Reeth no movement of the enemy's infantry has occurred. In the circles from the Scheldt to the Senne during and violent German attacks have been repelled by the Belgians, who were well supported by their artillery. The German losses were proportionate to the temerity of their attacks.

"In the direction of Termonde the offensive movement was of no great import, consisting of a long-distance cannonade, which had no appreciable effect on the detachments of our troops guarding the approaches to the town. Between the rivers Dendre and Scheldt there is no notable change.

"In short, the German bombardment has produced no results commensurate with its violence. The morale of our troops remains excellent and their coolness is admirable, as proved by the successful resistance of all German infantry attacks."

GEMS OF DICKENS'S ART.

Mr. Charles Conway's First Appearance Anticipated With Pleasure.

Mr. Charles Conway's first appearance here, at the Civic League House Saturday night, is anticipated with much pleasure. Seats and boxes are being rapidly sold and the young artist will be welcomed by a representative Newport audience. The program will include, as already stated, the gems of Dickens's creations—"Oliver Twist," "Little Nell," "David Copperfield," "Old Curiosity Shop"—and his own comedy, with Miss Boudreau, "Clarissim's Lovers."

The London Observer said of him: "The clever impersonator proved himself a master of the mimic art. The audience followed the performance closely and appreciatively, and gave unstinted evidence of their appreciation. Mr. Conway is an impersonator of real natural ability with the mannerisms and gestures as well as the facial resemblance of the characters he assumes. Specially good is he in these ever popular impersonations from Dickens."

MIDDLETOWN.

Estate of Mrs. Henry H. Swinburne Entered and House Ransacked.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

"Long Meadow," the estate of Mrs. Henry H. Swinburne on Bliss Mine road, has recently been found to have been entered by unknown marauders, windows broken, doors wrenched off and the house ransacked. The family was intending to come from New York in June, but changed their plans owing to the ill health of some of the members, so that the house had not been occupied this summer.

Dr. and Mrs. James Sherman of Providence and Dr. Sherman's nurse, who have been spending the past three months with Mr. and Mrs. R. Wallace Peckham, Indian avenue, have returned to Providence.

Messrs. Alden P. and Francis S. Barker are putting in concrete steps at the Methodist Episcopal Church, at the foot of the wooden sets at the two entrances.

Miss Ardelia Peckham returned this week to Cambridge, to complete her two years' course at the Sargent School of Physical Culture.

Miss Patience Goff is spending the week with her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barney, in Newport.

Mrs. Eunice Chase of Gypsom road completes this month 25 years of continual service as organist at the Church of the Holy Cross.

PICTURES AND DANCING.

Easter Ball Committee Tendered Reception by Mr. Henry G. Riley.

The majority of Newport's best dancers were present as guests of Mr. Henry G. Riley at the reception tendered to the Easter Ball committee Wednesday night in Music hall, when motion pictures and general dancing were the attractions which whiled away a pleasant evening. All were a unit in declaring the reception among the best given this season, and with the hall made attractive as only the electricians can make it, nothing was left undone to make this reception to the committee and guests a success.

Electric lights in streamers, criss-crossing overhead, were made prettier by Japanese lanterns placed over each bulb. Around the hall were a number of large American flags, while the platform on which the orchestra played was decorated in vari-colored bunting. Punch was served all the evening at a counter, at which also there was distilled water, obtainable on request. At various intervals Mr. Riley made the round of the hall with a large box of cigars and cigarettes for the men.

Nearly all the motion pictures shown were humorous, and much enjoyed. The picture machine was one of the best obtainable, and the results therefore good. Following the pictures, which ended at 9:30, there was general dancing. A short intermission was called by Mr. Riley, during which a briar wood pipe, for members of the ball committee only, was taken by Mr. William Dyneen, who received much congratulatory applause. Dancing was then continued until 11:30, with a fox trot the feature.

Hallowe'en night Mr. Riley and his associates will give a big dance in Masonic hall, at which there will be many features in the way of decorations and general arrangements. This promises to be one of the best of the winter season. It is probable also that Mr. Riley will run a series of dances later.

WAR ADDS TO INTEREST.

Madame Tanty Lectures in French With Fluency and Brilliancy.

Madame Tanty's lecture, Wednesday afternoon at the Berkeley School, on "Napoleon Intimes et les Femmes de son Temps," was heard with special interest on account of the present war in Europe. She spoke with fluency and brilliancy. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the singing by Miss Mae Stenhouse of two French songs, "Chant Hindou" by Beurberg and "Sonnet d'Amour" by Thorne. She also sang in English Arthur Foote's "The Rose and the Gardener." Mrs. Gray, who accompanied Miss Stenhouse, rendered two piano selections, the Second Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt and MacDowell's "Witches Dance."

Madame Tanty, being unable to go to Europe at the present time will return next week to New York, where she will continue to give lessons in French.

A RECTORY WEDDING.

Miss Helen E. Briggs and William E. Sullivan Married at St. Mary's.

The marriage of Miss Helen Editha Briggs, daughter of Mrs. Harry J. Briggs, to Mr. William Emmett Sullivan took place Wednesday evening at St. Mary's rectory. Rev. Michael L. Ryan performing the ceremony. The bride, who was attended by Miss Anna Connell, wore a tailored gown of cream colored broadcloth, a large black hat and a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. She carried a white prayer book. The bridesmaid's gown was of navy blue broadcloth and her hat black trimmed with silver, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mr. Joseph F. Sullivan, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception, attended by a small company of relatives and friends, was held at the residence of the bride's mother on Spring street, where a bridal supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left on the boat for New York and Washington, and on their return will reside at 34 Morton avenue, where they will be at home after November 1.

Among the many gifts received by the bride were a cut glass lamp and cut glass sets from the employes of the Telephone Exchange, where she was formerly employed.

ALTY—HART.

Marriage of Deputy Jailer in Newport to a Middletown Girl.

The marriage of Miss Louise Mason Hart, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Hart of Middletown, to Mr. Archibald Alty of Newport, younger son of Mrs. Harriet Alty of Fall River, took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents on Wapping road. The ceremony, performed by Rev. Latta Griswold, rector of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, was witnessed by only the immediate families. The bride's traveling gown is of blue, with hat to match.

A wedding luncheon followed the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Alty left in an automobile for a short wedding trip, after which they will take up their residence in Newport. Mr. Alty is deputy jailer at the Newport County jail.

RECEPTION AT THE TOLEthorpe SCHOOL.

A reception was given at the Tolethorpe School Wednesday afternoon, preliminary to the opening today, to give the people of Newport an opportunity to see the building, the Chanler house on the Cliffs, and to learn its advantages for school purposes. The principals, Miss S. Alice Brown and Miss Ethel Sumes-Nowell, assisted by Mrs. Thomas S. Nowell and Miss Hale, a member of the faculty, received the guests and showed them about the building.

FIVE FIRE STATIONS CUT OUT.

Headquarters, Three Pumpers and Hose 3 Only Ones Left in New Plan.

Main Provisions of Report to be Made by the Re-Organization Committee.

It has been reported with considerable authoritativeness in fire department circles for two or three weeks past that the re-organization committee finds that Newport has too many stations for the size of the city and the size of the department as well, and it is proposed to cut down the number of stations from 10 to five, as a matter of economy and at the same time to increase the efficiency. It may be said with positiveness that the reduction is at the advice of Chief Engineer Booth of the National Board of Underwriters and the re-location of apparatus as proposed meets his approval. The houses to be abandoned have been so checked in consideration of the tactical layout of the city from that expert fire engineer's view, and also because of the condition of buildings and the expense of their upkeep.

As the Daily News suggested weeks ago, headquarters on West Marlborough street, either re-modeled or a new building, is proposed as a location for Truck 1 and Combination 1, eliminating the stations on Long wharf and Bridge street, the latter being in a bad state. Station 4 at Equality park would be the location of one of the three pumpers, thus having one piece of apparatus in the running there instead of two. There will be room to house the present steamer in reserve. At Station 5, Touro street, another pumper is proposed, it is understood, and it is possible that the other reserve steamer may be housed there.

At Station 1, on Mill street, it would appear that nothing has been found worthy of retention, not even the location being considered valuable from an expert view. The steamer and reel are too old to warrant the expense of housing, the building itself is faulty, and so there is nothing left but the company and its associations. That this company was to go according to the report, has been apparent for some time, as the members have been active ever since the tentative report was received at headquarters. They are trying to offset expert opinion by the old argument from that locality, that this station is essential for the safety of the city, especially the business section. It is said that much of the organized campaign against making any change in the present department comes from the effort of this company to preserve itself.

Station 8 and its reel on Prospect Hill street appear to be deemed of no value, which also applies to Station 2 on Bridge street. The Young Street station, the present home of Truck 2, Steamer 7 and Hose 7, according to the plan would become the home of the third pumper, Combination 2 and Truck 2. This would dispense with the old Hose 6 station, on lower Thames street. Hose 3, on Coggeshall avenue, appears to be left undisturbed, except for displacing the present horse-drawn wagon with an automobile apparatus.

Candidates have already been chosen by the nominating committees of the high school and grammar school classes in the boys' department at the Young Men's Christian Association for the boys' council which is to be a feature this winter. ROGERS TO PLAY SATURDAY.

Merry Contest Going on for Chance to Wear New Football Uniforms.

A new set of uniforms are to be secured for the Rogers High School football team this season. The jerseys will be all black, with the low neck common to football jerseys. A red "R" will be sewed on the front, and with suitable colored stockings the team will make a good appearance in about a week, when the new suits are expected to arrive.

Practice was resumed this afternoon, with a big squad out. A merry contest is going on between the candidates, to see who will qualify for the new uniforms, and this is expected to make each man fight for his position. A number of new candidates are coming out, and a heavy line is now assured to help the backs, who are expected to tear big holes in the opposition.

Manager Ford is trying to secure a game with St. George's for next Wednesday. The first game will probably be played Saturday, as efforts are being made to engage the heavy Montana team to clash against Rogers at the Vernon Avenue field. Under Manager Ford there is expected to be much activity, as he has plenty of time to look out for the team.

"THE AGE OF ELIZABETH."

Series of Six Lectures Arranged in the University Extension Course.

As a result of the visit of Mr. G. Arnold Shaw, secretary of the University Lecturers' Association, Wednesday, the executive committee of the Newport University Extension Centre has engaged Rev. A. E. N. Simms, M. A., late scholar of Trinity College, Dublin, to give a series of six lectures on "The Age of Elizabeth," illustrated with stereopticon views, during the winter. As in former years, the lectures will be given on Thursday evenings, starting January 7 and concluding February 11.

Rev. Stanley C. Hughes was elected chairman of the Newport Centre, in place of Captain W. McCarty Little, U. S. N. (retired), who has resigned on account of poor health.

Mr. Simms will make his first appearance as an extension lecturer this year, but comes very highly recommended, especially by Rev. Hudson Shaw, who gave a series here several years ago. Mr. Simms gave the first lecture this year at the summer meeting at Oxford, at which the entire corps speak before the delegates from all the extension centres, and it was agreed that he was the most finished in the group. He has practically taken Rev. Mr. Shaw's place in the English university extension work and will use his slides to illustrate his lectures in this country.

FOR NEWPORT HOSPITALITY

New Bedford Sir Knights Present Resolutions to Washington Commandery.

At a special meeting of Washington Commandery, Knights Templar, Wednesday evening, a delegation from Sutton Commandery of New Bedford made a fraternal visit. The New Bedford Sir Knights were among the guests of Washington Commandery during the one hundredth birthday celebration of the local body last July, and to express their appreciation of the hospitality shown them recently adopted appropriate resolutions. These, suitably engrossed and set in a heavy gilt frame, were presented Wednesday evening by the commander of the New Bedford organization. Eminent Commander Henry S. Hendy accepted the gift in behalf of Washington Commandery in an appreciative address, and after the formalities the evening was spent socially.

BILL LARGELY MUSICAL.

Instruments Rare on the Vaudeville Stage to be Used at the Opera House.

The vaudeville and pictures drew a large crowd to the Opera House Wednesday evening, many being obliged to stand in line to secure tickets.

The new bill, opening today, is largely musical. The Musical Durands include father, mother, son and daughter, commonly called the musical family. They play on instruments which have rarely been used on the vaudeville stage and present both classical and popular music. The Musical Trio "put over" a rathskeller act in which a number of novelties are promised. Leone and Dale, who have recently been seen in the Henry W. Savage musical production "Sari," render vocal selections. Morris and Manton appar in a comedy skit, "The Man, the Girl and the Piano," which has made a hit wherever presented.

The feature picture introduces Hazel Dawn, recently a star in "The Pink Lady," in a Frohman play, "One of Our Girls," and other pictures include another of the popular series showing the experiences of "Sophie of the Films."

The Peace Offering.

Is always a box of candies and what could be a better one? A box of our delicious, dainty chocolates and bon bons, would sweeten the temper of most any woman. No matter how angry she may have been, she will melt when she tastes just one out of the box.

TO PROMOTE AMERICAN IDEAS.

Brilliant Fashion Fete at the Ritz Carlton to Advocate Buying at Home.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish Would Have New York Take Rightful Share in Setting Styles.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish explains what the brilliant fashion fete to be held at the Ritz Carlton in New York, November 4 to 6, hopes to accomplish. The fete is not an unseemly effort to take from beleaguered Paris the headship of fashion that city once enjoyed. It will advocate supplying fashion in the interregnum caused by the war and acquiring New York's rightful share of fashion setting. It will promote "smart dress for smart women," the fashion to be set and made in America. Mrs. Fish, who is one of the interested organizers of the present big movement, said:

"The great designer Worth, asked once by a fashionable woman, 'What makes the fashion?' replied, 'What I make and you wear, that is the fashion, Madam!'

"If ever there was the time and the place and the opportunity for a people to show what they can contribute to the world of art and dress and entertainment that time and place is here. For years we have been content to sit at the feet of Europe in the admiring attitude which is proper and becoming to a debutante among the powers, and had no necessity occurred to rouse us to the invention that it is said to mother we should have been very well content to continue our role of careful copyists.

"I do not think that any one expects this country to offer at once products that can compete with the materials and designs that Europe has been centuries in perfecting, but on the other hand I do believe that we are capable of producing far better things than the average person fancies.

"This is no new interest with me. Although in common with many other women of my acquaintance I have frequently bought my gowns in Paris, I have always felt that we intended to under-rate what we might buy at home in New York. I have never forgotten the remark of a young saleswoman in Paris which shocked me into seeing with clear eyes just the impression we were making upon Europe by incessantly hurrying across the ocean to do our shopping. I happened to mention to this young woman an another gown that I had got in New York.

'But you have no shops in New York, have you?' she explained.

"What makes you think that," I asked in considerable astonishment.

"'Why, Americans all come here for big things, little things, everything!' she answered.

"And, as I thought it over, her conclusion of no shops at all in New York seemed to me quite natural.

"If all the duchesses and great ladies of England arrived punctually twice a year in New York to buy their entire wardrobes, their lingerie, their gowns, their hats, their veils and all the dainty odds and ends of their apparel, we would undoubtedly picture England as shopless as a New York suburb.

"America is indeed a young country and this fashion fete is a young effort, but we are growing up, we must put away open-mouthed, childish acceptance of what is offered us by the Old World, and learn to express ourselves, to make our own contributions."

A WORLD'S RECORD.

New York Pacer Gives Indian Four-Year-Old First Defeat of Career.

Directum 7, the New York pacer, Wednesday afternoon at Columbus, Ohio, gave to William the first defeat the Indian four-year-old has ever taken in a racing career of two seasons. To do so the chestnut stallion was forced to pace the first mile in 1:58 and the second in 2:00.

The time of the first heat is the fastest ever made in competition, and the race stands as a world's record. Before Wednesday each horse had won a second heat in 2:00. The former record for one heat was 1:59¼, made two weeks ago at Detroit by Frank Bogash, Jr.

It was over a hard track, the sort desired by Directum 7's handlers, that the race was run. A 17-mile wind was blowing when the first heat started, but its velocity was much reduced when the last was called. The horses had to race against it on the back stretch.

WILSON OPENS LETTER WRITING CAMPAIGN

Shively of Indiana and Chamberlain of Oregon Endorsed.

Maintenance of Democratic Majority in Senate of Utmost Importance.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President Wilson today opened his letter-writing campaign for the election of Democratic Senators and representatives. He wrote letters endorsing Senator Shively of Indiana and Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. Others will be written in the near future.

In his letter to Senator Owen, endorsing Senator Chamberlain, the President declared that "the maintenance of the Democratic majority in the Senate is of the utmost importance to the country if the present policies and program of the government are to be sustained and continued, and I take it for granted that voters everywhere will feel the force of that motive."

The letter endorsing Senator Shively was addressed to Majority Leader Kern of the Senate and was as follows:

"I am genuinely surprised that any question should have arisen as to whether I want Senator Shively returned. I do most decidedly wish it. I have admired Senator Shively's steadfast devotion to duty and to the standards of the party and his unfaltering loyalty in all matters of public policy, and all his party associates and I have learned to have a very warm personal feeling and admiration for him. It would, in my judgment be a very great loss to the party and to the Senate if he should not be re-elected. I trust that there is no doubt of his re-election.

"The members of the House have stood by the administration with unfailing generosity and have made me feel a very deep interest in the political fortunes of every one of them. I need not tell you, my dear Senator, what my sentiments are towards yourself."

The Democrats are greatly elated over prospects of receiving the support of the administration for re-election in November. Not only will the Democratic nominees have the support of President Wilson, but also that of his cabinet.

While the President's activities in the coming campaign will be devoted entirely to writing letters, in which he will point out how candidates for re-election have supported his administration during the present Congress, a member of the cabinet will take the stump.

Secretary Bryan today announced that he will speak during the campaign not only in Ohio but also in Indiana and Nebraska. He said he had not considered Illinois, but added that he probably would speak in accordance with the wishes of the Democratic Congressional committee.

To a request by Senator Pomerene that he speak in Ohio, President Wilson today reiterated his determination not to go on the stump. He told the Senator he felt he must remain actively at the head of the government in Washington.

Secretary Daniels will begin speaking in Connecticut and New Hampshire and will speak in such other states as the Congressional campaign committee may designate. His first speech will be delivered the week of October 12, but the place has not been selected.

WILLIAMS' AMENDMENTS

Tax on Automobiles Substituted for Duty on Gasoline.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Democrats of the Senate sub-committee on finance voted today to substitute for the tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline in the war reenue bill a tax on owners of 25 cents per horse-power on automobiles and one dollar per horse-power on automobiles sold by dealers. An owner of a 30 horse-power car would pay a tax of $7.50, and a manufacturer selling such a machine would pay $30.

Senator Williams introduced amendments to tax employes, except the President Supreme Court justices and Congressmen, one half of one per cent of their salaries, and to estimate the tax on casualty, damage and accident insurance. Another amendment would tax retail liquor dealers from $25 to $300 a year, according to the volume of their business.

GEMS OF DICKENS'S ART.

Mr. Charles Conway's First Appearance Anticipated With Pleasure.

Mr. Charles Conway's first appearance here, at the Civic League House Saturday night, is anticipated with much pleasure. Seats and boxes are being rapidly sold and the young artist will be welcomed by a representative Newport audience. The program will include, as already stated, the gems of Dickens's creations—"Oliver Twist," "Little Nell," "David Copperfield," "Old Curiosity Shop"—and his own comedy, with Miss Boudreau, "Clarissim's Lovers."

The London Observer said of him: "The clever impersonator proved himself a master of the mimic art. The audience followed the performance closely and appreciatively, and gave unstinted evidence of their appreciation. Mr. Conway is an impersonator of real natural ability with the mannerisms and gestures as well as the facial resemblance of the characters he assumes. Specially good is he in those ever popular impersonations from Dickens."

MIDDLETOWN.

Estate of Mrs. Henry H. Swinburne Entered and House Ransacked.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

"Long Meadow," the estate of Mrs. Henry H. Swinburne on Bliss Mine road, has recently been found to have been entered by unknown marauders, windows broken, doors wrenched off and the house ransacked. The family was intending to come from New York in June, but changed their plans owing to the ill health of some of the members, so that the house had not been occupied this summer.

Dr. and Mrs. James Sherman of Providence and Dr. Sherman's nurse, who have been spending the past three months with Mr. and Mrs. R. Wallace Peckham, Indian avenue, have returned to Providence.

Messrs. Alden P. and Francis S. Barker are putting in concrete steps at the Methodist Episcopal Church, at the foot of the wooden sets at the two entrances.

Miss Ardelia Peckham returned this week to Cambridge, to complete her two years' course at the Sargent School of Physical Culture.

Miss Patience Goff is spending the week with her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Birney, in Newport.

Mrs. Eunice Chase of Gypsum road completes this month 26 years of continual service as organist at the Church of the Holy Cross.

In the third round of doubles Miss Hamill and Miss Julia P. Brown were defeated, 6-7, 8-6, 6-4, by Mrs. Oakes Ames and Mrs. Borden, while Mrs. Barger Wallach and Miss Edith Rotch defeated Miss Edith Shaughnessy and Miss Phyllis Sears, 6-3, 9-7, in the second round. In the mixed doubles Mrs. Barger Wallach and N. W. Niles defeated Mr. and Mrs. George P. Gardiner, Jr., 1-6, 8-6, 6-1.

Adjoining it is the home of Mr. Reginald De Koven and on an opposite corner the new house which is being put in order for the occupancy of Mr. D. H. Morris.

Before his marriage Mr. Astor lived with his mother in the Astor mansion on West Fifty-sixth street.

PICTURES AND DANCING.

Easter Ball Committee Tendered Reception by Mr. Henry G. Riley.

The majority of Newport's best dancers were present as guests of Mr. Henry G. Riley at the reception tendered to the Easter Ball committee Wednesday night in Music hall, when motion pictures and general dancing were the attractions which whiled away a pleasant evening. All were a unit in declaring the reception among the best given this season, and with the hall made attractive as only the electricians can make it, nothing was left undone to make this reception to the committee and guests a success.

Electric lights in streamers, criss-crossing overhead, were made prettier by Japanese lanterns placed over each bulb. Around the hall were a number of large American flags, while the platform on which the orchestra played was decorated in vari-colored bunting. Punch was served all the evening at a counter, at which also there was distilled water, obtainable on request. At various intervals Mr. Riley made the round of the hall with a large box of cigars and cigarettes for the men.

Nearly all the motion pictures shown were humorous, and much enjoyed. The picture machine was one of the best obtainable, and the results therefore good. Following the pictures, which ended at 9:30, there was general dancing. A short intermission was called by Mr. Riley, during which a briar wood pipe, for members of the ball committee only, was taken by Mr. William Dyneen, who received much congratulatory applause. Dancing was then continued until 11:30, with a fox trot the feature.

Hallowe'en night Mr. Riley and his associates will give a big dance in Masonic hall, at which there will be many features in the way of decorations and general arrangements. This promises to be one of the best of the winter season. It is probable also that Mr. Riley will run a series of dances later.

WAR ADDS TO INTEREST.

Madame Tanty Lectures in French With Fluency and Brilliancy.

Madame Tanty's lecture, Wednesday afternoon at the Berkeley School, on "Napoleon Intimes et les Femmes de son Temps," was heard with special interest on account of the present war in Europe. She spoke with fluency and brilliancy. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the singing by Miss Mae Stenhouse of two French songs, "Chant Hindou" by Beurberg and "Sonnet d'Amour" by Thorne. She also sang in English Arthur Foote's "The Rose and the Gardener." Mrs. Gray, who accompanied Miss Stenhouse, rendered two piano selections, the Second Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt and MacDowell's "Witches Dance."

Madame Tanty, being unable to go to Europe at the present time will return next week to New York, where she will continue to give lessons in French.

A RECTORY WEDDING.

Miss Helen E. Briggs and William E. Sullivan Married at St. Mary's.

The marriage of Miss Helen Editha Briggs, daughter of Mrs. Harry J. Briggs, to Mr. William Emmett Sullivan took place Wednesday evening at St. Mary's rectory, Rev. Michael L. Ryan performing the ceremony. The bride, who was attended by Miss Anna Connell, wore a tailored gown of cream colored broadcloth, a large black hat and a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. She carried a white prayer book. The bridesmaid's gown was of navy blue broadcloth and her hat black trimmed with silver, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mr. Joseph F. Sullivan, brother of the groom, was best man.

A reception, attended by a small company of relatives and friends, was held at the residence of the bride's mother on Spring street, where a bridal supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left on the boat for New York and Washington, and on their return will reside at 34 Morton avenue, where they will be at home after November 1.

Among the many gifts received by the bride were a cut glass lamp and cut glass sets from the employes of the Telephone Exchange, where she was formerly employed.

ALTY—HART.

Marriage of Deputy Jailer in Newport to a Middletown Girl.

The marriage of Miss Louise Mason Hart, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Hart of Middletown, to Mr. Archibald Alty of Newport, younger son of Mrs. Harriet Alty of Fall River, took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents on Wapping road. The ceremony, performed by Rev. Latta Griswold, rector of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, was witnessed by only the immediate families. The bride's traveling gown is of blue, with hat to match.

A wedding luncheon followed the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Alty left in an automobile for a short wedding trip, after which they will take up their residence in Newport. Mr. Alty is deputy jailer at the Newport County jail.

RECEPTION AT THE TOLE-THORPE SCHOOL.

A reception was given at the Tole-Thorpe School Wednesday afternoon, preliminary to the opening today, to give the people of Newport an opportunity to see the building, the Chanler house on the Cliffs, and to learn its advantages for school purposes. The principals, Miss S. Alice Brown and Miss Ethel Simes-Nowell, assisted by Mrs. Thomas S. Nowell and Miss Hale, a member of the faculty, received the guests and showed them about the building.

FIVE FIRE STATIONS CUT OUT.

Headquarters, Three Pumpers and Hose 3 Only Ones Left in New Plan.

Main Provisions of Report to be Made by the Re-Organization Committee.

It has been reported with considerable authoritativeness in fire department circles for two or three weeks past that the re-organization committee finds that Newport has too many stations for the size of the city and the size of the department as well, and it is proposed to cut down the number of stations from 10 to five, as a matter of economy and at the same time to increase the efficiency. It may be said with positiveness that the reduction is at the advice of Chief Engineer Booth of the National Board of Underwriters and the re-location of apparatus as proposed meets his approval. The houses to be abandoned have been so checked in consideration of the tactical layout of the city from that expert fire engineer's view, and also because of the condition of buildings and the expense of their upkeep.

As the Daily News suggested weeks ago, headquarters on West Marlborough street, either re-modeled or a new building, is proposed as a location for Truck 1 and Combination 1, eliminating the stations on Long wharf and Bridge street, the latter being in a bad state. Station 4 at Equality park would be the location of one of the three pumpers, thus having one piece of apparatus in the running there instead of two. There will be room to house the present steamer in reserve. At Station 5, Touro street, another pumper is proposed, it is understood, and it is possible that the other reserve steamer may be housed there.

At Station 1, on Mill street, it would appear that nothing has been found worthy of retention, not even the location being considered valuable from an expert view. The steamer and reel are too old to warrant the expense of housing, the building itself is faulty, and so there is nothing left but the company and its associations. That this company was to go according to the report, has been apparent for some time, as the members have been active ever since the tentative report was received at headquarters. They are trying to offset expert opinion by the old argument from that locality, that this station is essential for the safety of the city, especially the business section. It is said that much of the organized campaign against making any change in the present department comes from the effort of this company to preserve itself.

Station 8 and its reel on Prospect Hill street appear to be deemed of no value, which also applies to Station 2 on Bridge street. The Young Street station, the present home of Truck 2, Steamer 7 and Hose 7, according to the plan would become the home of the third pumper, Combination 2 and Truck 2. This would dispense with the old Hose 6 station, on lower Thames street. Hose 3, on Coggeshall avenue, appears to be left undisturbed, except for displacing the present horse-drawn wagon with an automobile apparatus.

FOR BOYS' COUNCIL.

Candidates Chosen to Run for Offices to be Voted for Friday.

Candidates have already been chosen by the nominating committees of the high school and grammar school classes in the boys' department at the Young Men's Christian Association for the boys' council which is to be a feature this winter. Two were selected for each of the six offices in the council, each having a special section of the boys' department to care for. The election will take place Friday and a heavy vote is expected.

The candidates in the high school class are as follows: Physical, Anthony Mitchell and Ray Connell; social, Alexander Edward and Harold Barker; religious, Archie Mitchell and Benton Decker; rooms, George Williamson and Marcus Wheatland; membership, John Sproul and Thomas B. Tanner, Jr.; club, Merton Austin and Harold L. Peckham.

Those in the grammar school class who will run for the offices follow: Physical, Calvin Holm and Horton Edwards; social, Allerton Edes and Lyndsey Sutherland; religious, Gordon Bain and Harold Tollefson; membership, Robert Bancroft and Stewart North; club, Gullan Barker and Raymond Edwards; rooms, Harold Twigg and Rainsford Clarkson.

ROGERS TO PLAY SATURDAY.

Merry Contest Going on for Chance to Wear New Football Uniforms.

A new set of uniforms are to be secured for the Rogers High School football team this season. The jerseys will be all black, with the low neck common to football jerseys. A red "R" will be sewed on the front, and with suitable colored stockings the team will make a good appearance in about a week, when the new suits are expected to arrive.

Practice was resumed this afternoon, with a big squad out. A merry contest is going on between the candidates, to see who will qualify for the new uniforms, and this is expected to make each man fight for his position. A number of new candidates are coming out, and a heavy line is now assured to help the backs, who are expected to tear big holes in the opposition.

Manager Ford is trying to secure a game with St. George's for next Wednesday. The first game will probably be played Saturday, as efforts are being made to engage the heavy Montana team to clash against Rogers at the Vernon Avenue field. Under Manager Ford there is expected to be much activity, as he has plenty of time to look out for the team.

Series of Six Lectures Arranged in the University Extension Course.

As a result of the visit of Mr. G. Arnold Shaw, secretary of the University Lecturers' Association, Wednesday, the executive committee of the Newport University Extension Centre has engaged Rev. A. E. N. Simms, M. A., late scholar of Trinity College, Dublin, to give a series of six lectures on "The Age of Elizabeth," illustrated with stereopticon views, during the winter. As in former years, the lectures will be given on Thursday evenings, starting January 7 and concluding February 11.

Rev. Stanley C. Hughes was elected chairman of the Newport Centre, in place of Captain W. McCarty Little, U. S. N. (retired), who has resigned on account of poor health.

Mr. Simms will make his first appearance as an extension lecturer this year, but comes very highly recommended, especially by Rev. Hudson Shaw, who gave a series here several years ago. Mr. Simms gave the first lecture this year at the summer meeting at Oxford, at which the entire corps speak before the delegates from all the extension centres, and it was agreed that he was the most finished in the group. He has practically taken Rev. Mr. Shaw's place in the English university extension work and will use his slides to illustrate his lectures in this country.

FOR NEWPORT HOSPITALITY

New Bedford Sir Knights Present Resolutions to Washington Commandery.

At a special meeting of Washington Commandery, Knights Templar, Wednesday evening, a delegation from Sutton Commandery of New Bedford made a fraternal visit. The New Bedford Sir Knights were among the guests of Washington Commandery during the one hundredth birthday celebration of the local body last July, and to express their appreciation of the hospitality shown them recently adopted appropriate resolutions. These, suitably engrossed and set in a heavy gilt frame, were presented Wednesday evening by the commander of the New Bedford organization. Eminent Commander Henry S. Hendy accepted the gift in behalf of Washington Commandery in an appreciative address, and after the formalities the evening was spent socially.

BILL LARGELY MUSICAL.

Instruments Rare on the Vaudeville Stage to be Used at the Opera House.

The vaudeville and pictures drew a large crowd to the Opera House Wednesday evening, many being obliged to stand in line to secure tickets.

The new bill, opening today, is largely musical. The Musical Durands include father, mother, son and daughter, commonly called the musical family. They play on instruments which have rarely been used on the vaudeville stage and present both classical and popular music. The Musical Trio "put over" a rathskeller act in which a number of novelties are promised. Leone and Dale, who have recently been seen in the Henry W. Savage musical production "Sari," render vocal selections. Morris and Manton appear in a comedy skit, "The Man, the Girl and the Piano," which has made a hit wherever presented.

The feature picture introduces Hazel Dawn, recently a star in "The Pink Lady," in a Frohman play, "One of Our Girls," and other pictures include another of the popular series showing the experiences of "Sophie of the Films."

The Peace Offering.

Is always a box of candies and what could be a better one? A box of our delicious, dainty chocolates and bon bons, would sweeten the temper of most any woman. No matter how angry she may have been, she will melt when she tastes just one out of the box.

TO PROMOTE AMERICAN IDEAS.

Brilliant Fashion Fete at the Ritz Carlton to Advocate Buying at Home.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish Would Have New York Take Rightful Share in Setting Styles.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish explains what the brilliant fashion fete to be held at the Ritz Carlton in New York, November 4 to 6, hopes to accomplish. The fete is not an unseemly effort to take from beleaguered Paris the headship of fashion that city once enjoyed. It will advocate supplying fashion in the interregnum caused by the war and acquiring New York's rightful share of fashion setting. It will promote "smart dress for smart women," the fashion to be set and made in America. Mrs. Fish, who is one of the interested organizers of the present big movement, said:

"The great designer Worth, asked once by a fashionable woman, 'What makes the fashion?' replied, 'What I make and you wear, that is the fashion, Madam!'

"If ever there was the time and the place and the opportunity for a people to show what they can contribute to the world of art and dress and entertainment that time and place is here. For years we have been content to sit at the feet of Europe in the admiring attitude which is proper and becoming to a debutante among the powers, and had no necessity occurred to rouse us to the invention that it is said to mother we should have been very well content to continue our role of careful copyists.

"I do not think that any one expects this country to offer at once products that can compete with the materials and designs that Europe has been centuries in perfecting, but on the other hand I do believe that we are capable of producing far better things than the average person fancies.

"This is no new interest with me. Although in common with many other women of my acquaintance I have frequently bought my gowns in Paris, I have always felt that we intended to under-rate what we might buy at home in New York. I have never forgotten the remark of a young saleswoman in Paris which shocked me into seeing with clear eyes just the impression we were making upon Europe by incessantly hurrying across the ocean to do our shopping. I happened to mention to this young woman another gown that I had got in New York.

"But you have no shops in New York, have you?' she explained.

"What makes you think that,' I asked in considerable astonishment.

"'Why, Americans all come here for big things, little things, everything!' she answered.

"And, as I thought it over, her conclusion of no shops at all in New York seemed to me quite natural.

"If all the duchesses and great ladies of England arrived punctually twice a year in New York to buy their entire wardrobes, their lingerie, their gowns, their hats, their veils and all the dainty odds and ends of their apparel, we would undoubtedly picture England as shopless as a New York suburb.

"America is indeed a young country and this fashion fete is a young effort, but we are growing up, we must put away open-mouthed, childish acceptance of what is offered us by the Old World, and learn to express ourselves, to make our own contributions."

A WORLD'S RECORD.

New York Pacer Gives Indian Four-Year-Old First Defeat of Career.

Directum I. the New York pacer, Wednesday afternoon at Columbus, Ohio, gave to William the first defeat the Indian four-year-old has ever taken in a racing career of two seasons. To do so the chestnut stallion was forced to pace the first mile in 1:58 and the second in 2:00.

The time of the first heat is the fastest ever made in competition, and the race stands as a world's record. Before Wednesday each horse had won a second heat in 2:00. The former record for one heat was 1:59¼, made two weeks ago at Detroit by Frank Bogash, Jr.

It was over a hard track, the sort desired by Directum I.'s handlers, that the race was run. A 17-mile wind was blowing when the first heat started, but its velocity was much reduced when the last was called. The horses had to race against it on the back stretch.
